Six Men Are Held, Coverdale Says; One Connected In Only One Case

WIRE THEFTS CLEARED BY WIDE INVESTIGATION

Louisiana, Arkansas Burglaries Included In Lengthy Study Here

A long series of robberies dating back to March have been cleared as a result of the arrest in Shreveport of three men on July 20, Sheriff Milton Coverdale announced here yesterday. The investigation is still under way.

Three other men have been taken into custody, Sheriff Coverdale said, while one of the original trio is implicated in only one case, the latter in Arkansas.

Those under arrest, according to the sheriff, are:

L. E. Freeman, Mack Alexander, R. A. Getchell, M. T. Salley, all of West Monroe, and Marshal Jackson, Hico, and Allen Lanier, Charleston, W. Va.

The investigation began, Sheriff Coverdale said, when Freeman, Alexander and Jackson were found asleep in an automobile by Shreveport police. The car, he said, contained a large amount of aluminum wire, the possession of which the men could not explain sufficiently.

The case, as related by Sheriff Coverdale, follows:

Freeman, Alexander and Jackson claimed that they had purchased the wire from a negro, Shreveport officers notified Sheriff Coverdale and he and deputies returned the men to Monroe for a further probe.

Freeman was selected to be taken to Bernice for a checkup, but on his way down in an elevator at the courthouse complained that he was ill. He was returned to his cell and Alexander was then chosen.

Alexander told the sheriff that he wanted to "say something." He was taken to the sheriff's office and began a confession that ultimately led to the arrest of the other three and the solving of numerous thefts.

There were eight robberies in all of wire and scrap material, one a hold-up in Monroe involving two men and

FUND OF WILLKIE TO BE $2,500,000

Will Be Well Under Provisions Of Hatch Law, Nominee Declares

COLORADO SPRINGS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Wendell L. Willkie said today he planned to hold all expenses of his campaign to approximately $2,500,000.

After day-long conferences with Republican organization leaders, the nominee told a press conference:

"The Republican organization, the Willkie clubs and the independent Democrats who are supporting me will spend about $2,500,000. It may run a few dollars over that, but we will be well within the limitations of the Hatch Act."

The Hatch law prohibits any national political organization from spending more than $3,000,000.

Willkie said he had not read an opinion by Henry P. Fletcher that the Hatch law limitation of $5,000 on individual campaign contributions would not apply if gifts were split among various Republican organizations supporting the nominee.

Fletcher, general counsel for the Republican committee, also advised that contributions might be made to state and local organizations to keep from pushing gifts to the Washington national organization to the $3,000,000 national limitation.

TROOPS BIVOUAC HERE OVERNIGHT

Two Units Make Camp At College En Route To Alexandria For Games

Two units of the Alabama National Guard spent the night in Monroe last night en route to Camp Beauregard, where they will participate in the maneuvers starting August 12. The men were quartered at Northeast Junior college, and the units will leave this morning for Alexandria.

The units were from the 127th Engineers Squadron, Headquarters and Service Company, and the 167th Infantry. The personnel includes 57 officers and enlisted men of the 127th, and 42 officers and men of the 167th.

The unit of the 167th Infantry was an advance detachment in command of Captain F. A. Reagan. Other officers with the unit were Captain W. E. Heaton and Captain Joe L. Lewis.

The 127th Engineers were in command of Captain Carl T. Jones. Lieutenant James Hayes was the other officer accompanying the detachment to Camp Beauregard.

The 127th left Huntsville, Ala., Friday morning, and the 167th departed from its home base at Gadsden.

FIVE SIAMESE KITTENS REPORTED 'ALL RIGHT'

MCCLELLANDTOWN, Pa., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Five Siamese kittens born to a cat at the home of a negro family in Palmer, a nearby coal mining hamlet, were reported "doing all right" today.

Postmaster Michael Heffner, McClellandtown, said three of the kittens were black and white and two were all black.

"All five were joined together when born Friday," he said.

NIP TRIO'S PLANS IN ODD EXTORTION

Fantastic Features Involved In Scheme To Obtain $100,000

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A bizarre $100,000 extortion and bombing plot—whose fantastic features included a scheme for a getaway in a tiny, homemade submarine—was broken up by police with the arrest of three young Milwaukee men.

The three, held pending issuance of warrants today, were a 23-year-old ornamental iron worker, his brother, 21, and a 22-year-old companion, Detective Lieutenant Eugene O'Gorman said.

The youngest man, O'Gorman said, admitted after his arrest Friday that he made and planted a bomb which exploded harmlessly in a northside Sears Roebuck and Company store last July 24, and also the sending of a series of letters to store Manager Rowland H. Davis demanding $100,000 under threat that "a bomb 200 times larger will go off at your south side store beside your own life will be in danger."

O'Gorman said the other two men probably would be charged as accessories.

The extortion plot, with angles outwitting even most far-fetched detective-thriller fiction, was solved after police found a scrap of ornamental iron wire, similar to that used in the trigger of the bomb, after sitting through a quarter-ton of scrap iron and filings in a shop formerly operated by the youngest man.

The submarine, a flimsy seven-foot long contrivance made of sheet metal, was discovered in the youth's basement. Light enough for two persons to lift onto a trailer, it was powered by two storage batteries and an automobile starter motor, and equipped with a crude conning tower, diving fins, and oxygen tank.

The youth said he intended to pick up the extortion money as it was dropped from an airplane out over

EDUCATION BOARD TO STUDY SYSTEM

Orleans Parish School Board Information Sought By Group

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The state board of education today authorized State Superintendent of Education John E. Cox to discuss with the Orleans Parish School Board a request that the parish board be supplied with information concerning the system used in past years in computing parish allotments of school funds.

Cox was directed to report back to the state board on the matter.

The Orleans Parish School Board, in a letter from its secretary, A. J. Tete, said it had received information that a method of computing allotments had been employed which resulted in New Orleans schools "possibly receiving less" than they were entitled under the law.

"Our information," Tete said in his letter to the board, "was roughly to the effect that deductions for retirement costs were made from the school fund as a whole before distribution and allocation, which produced the effect that Orleans parish was charged with a state retirement obligation which we did not have."

The Orleans Parish School Board operates a retirement system separate from the state system. Under the state department of education's new finance plans each parish participating in the state retirement system must pay its share toward maintaining the retirement system after it receives its allotment.

The state board re-employed directors of four state trade schools, Frank L. Miller at Shreveport, H. C. Givens at Natchitoches, J. W. Mitchell at Crowley, and E. B. Fishery at Bogalusa.

M. R. Pollard submitted his resignation as director of the state trade school at Winfield and the board decided to select his successor, as well as directors for the new state trade schools at Opelousas and Lake Charles, at its next meeting.

Action was deferred by the board on insurance bids submitted May 15 and June 25 pending further study. It was pointed out that the state government's reorganization plans a contemplated letting of insurance in large blocs in order to obtain more favorable rates.

The board, which will henceforth administer the Thomas H. Harris Scholarship Foundation, adopted routine rules in that connection and declined, upon recommendation by Superintendent Cox, to continue scholarships granted by the foundation under its previous administration.

JAPAN'S THREATS ARE INTERPRETED AS MORALE STEPS

Veteran Students Of Far East Give Their Opinions On Nation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Japan's announcement that she will pursue a foreign policy designed to bring French Indo-China and The Netherlands Indies under her domination is regarded by some veteran students here of the Far East as designed primarily to bolster morale.

They do not dismiss the possibility that Japan might take advantage of Britain's preoccupation with the threat of a German invasion, and of American concern over defense in the Atlantic, to put the policy into effect by early military action.

But, they contend, this would be a difficult undertaking for a nation already supporting 1,000,000 fighting men in China and devoting a large percentage—reportedly one-third—of its national income to the army and navy.

It appeared more likely, these analysts said, that Tokyo would attempt to bring Indo-China and The Netherlands Indies within her orbit gradually by a process of economic penetration.

This would include the sending of an increasing number of traders into those countries to get the raw materials which Japan wants from them and to exploit their markets for Japanese goods. The gradual acquisition of plantations in the two regions would be another possible means of peaceful penetration.

In suggesting that the Japanese government's statement was intended chiefly to strengthen the home front, students of the Far East said the Japanese public had been heavily burdened by the long struggle against China.

Nothing that settlement of the war was announced as the government's first goal, they expressed the opinion that settlement of that conflict appeared no nearer than ever. Chinese resistance, they said, has shown no signs of weakening.

What this country would do if Japan undertook to grab the Indies and Indo-China is a matter of conjecture.

The United States obtains rubber and tin, vital to the national defense, and other important imports from the two regions whose homelands have been conquered by Hitler, Japanese

WARNS BRITAIN

CHURCHILL IN WARNING TO HOMELAND DEFENSES

New Strain On Japanese-British Relations Develops In Day

(By Associated Press)

German planes struck many coastal towns and well inland in England, Scotland and Wales early today in the heaviest Sunday raids in several weeks.

The anti-aircraft fire in Wales was the liveliest of the war. Some bombs were dropped, but the gunners asserted their fire repeatedly broke up efforts at sustained raids.

A Northeast English coastal town felt a terrific explosion on the waterfront as German planes passed over. For 45 minutes the raiders dropped high-explosive bombs in Northeast, Southeast and Southwest Scotland, mostly on open country.

These raids put an exclamation point on Prime Minister Winston Churchill's warning to Britons not to permit the "slightest relaxation of vigilance or moral alertness" in their preparations against German invasion.

A sharp new strain on British-Japanese relations followed Saturday Britain's action in seizing two of Japanese London representatives of powerful banking houses in an action very similar to Japan's recent arrest of Britons in that country.

The Japanese ambassador to London made a strong protest to Lord Halifax, the British foreign secretary, and was said to have demanded outright that the two banking agents—Satoru Makihara and Shunroku Tanabe, be released.

From all that could be learned Lord Halifax gave him no satisfaction.

British sources declared any intention of retaliation for the detention of British nationals in Japan, but this seemed largely a diplomatic, and not a real, disclaimer.

Unconfirmed reports were circulated meanwhile by a British news agency that Japanese ships on the high seas en route to Britain had been ordered to make for Lisbon, Portugal, instead.

COTTON DUSTER FATALLY INJURED

Raymond Cluverius Succumbs After Accident South Of Tallulah

TALLULAH, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Raymond L. Cluverius, 25, Bethlehem, Pa., died here early today of injuries sustained when a cotton-dusting plane he was piloting late Friday afternoon crashed and burst into flames 15 miles south of Tallulah.

The crash occurred about 4 p.m. Friday and Cluverius succumbed at 2 o'clock this morning.

Conscious when brought to the Tallulah clinic for treatment, Cluverius told attendants that he had taken his hands from the controls momentarily to make an adjustment in the dusting apparatus. He said the plane crashed and burst into flames.

He was able to crawl from the burning wreckage, however, and with the assistance of two boys who were in the field, he was rushed to the clinic here for treatment.

Upon examination, physicians gave little hope for his recovery. His body was badly charred and one lung had been punctured.

Cluverius is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Cluverius, Bethlehem, and one sister, who resides in St. Petersburg, Fla.

STATE WILL SUE FIRM IN ORLEANS

Stanley Says Louisiana Will Attempt To Recover Huge Sums

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Times-Picayune tonight said it had learned Attorney General Eugene Stanley had ordered litigation filed in Baton Rouge soon to attempt the recovery of approximately $250,000 from the firm of Caldwell Brothers and Hart for alleged overcharges for "extra" oil buildings constructed at Louisiana State University.

The newspaper said also that more than $100,000 additional would be sought from Monte E. Hart individually, representing sums allegedly owed to the university, to Louisiana Normal College at Natchitoches, and to Louisiana Polytechnic Institute at Ruston.

Protracted negotiations have been carried on with the contractors for transfer of the money.

The newspaper said the claims against Hart individually were to cover liability for the "double dip" sale of Bienville Hotel furniture at New Orleans to L. S. U. and $14,000 unpaid taxes on the hotel, $91,549.01 for overcharges on college buildings at Natchitoches and Ruston, and for alleged "double dip" installation of a switchboard at L. S. U.

The newspaper's story declared it had learned unofficially a proposal that Hart be allowed to plead guilty

'Extravagance' Charged To New Orleans Board

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 3.—(AP)—A picture of "extravagance and mismanagement" of the Orleans levee board, featuring a lucrative oil transaction under the old Huey P. Long political regime was painted today in a bulky report made public by "reform" Governor Sam H. Jones.

The report, submitted to the governor by one of several citizens' committees he drafted to aid him in cleansing Louisiana of corruption after the fall of the Long political machine, branded the board as "sadly over-politicized."

The survey declared the board was "inefficiently organized and lavishly managed" in branching out from flood protection for New Orleans into real estate development, airport building and oil leasing which in some cases proved unprofitable, and recommended corrections in the use of its $2,700,000 annual revenue.

The survey described a major oil transaction in which it said A. L. Shushan, merchant-financier whose political influence rose and fell with Longian, bought for $1,000 in 1937 an overriding mineral royalty in levee board property which at present yields him more than $10,000 a year profit.

Shushan, former levee board president and "scandal" figure, is under federal penitentiary sentence for mail fraud for splitting with brokers an allegedly excessive $475,000 fee in a $5,000,000 levee board bond refunding deal in 1936-37.

The governor's committee said the levee board "leased" approximately 30,000 acres, all that remained unleased of its Bohemia swampy tract near the mouth of the Mississippi river.

As detailed by the committee, the lease was procured on June 19, 1937, for $12,500 by William Heils, fabulous operator who made millions in Louisiana oil and only recently returned to the state from a sojourn in Greece.

Five days after buying the lease, the report stated, Heils conveyed to Shushan a 1.64 overriding royalty for consideration stated to be $1,000 and six days later, on June 30, 1937, Heils sold an undivided half interest in the lease for an undisclosed sum to the Gulf Refining Company.

Now, three years later, the lease containing the rich Bohemia Bay oil field is worth $650,000 a year to its holders, based on the $4,400 monthly revenue the levee board's one-eighth landowning royalty yields. The share which Shushan bought for $1,000 brings him in more than $10,000, the report stated.

The governor's committee recommended a complete investigation of the levee board's leases, of which the Bohemia swampy tract was by far the richest.

It also suggested a letting down of restrictions on a $15,000,000 "Lake Vista" real estate subdivision development undertaken by the board, to attract more investors and declared that the New Orleans airport, formerly named "Shushan," a $4,000,000 plant, had been inefficiently managed.

The survey showed further that whereas the board originally was organized to provide flood protection for New Orleans, semi-circled by the sinuous Mississippi river, only a seventh of its $2,700,000 annual revenues, garnered mainly from taxes, went for this purpose.

The remainder ploughed away in the form of a $625,000 yearly subsidy to the city dock board and $1,500,000 for maturity and interest on a staggering bonded debt incurred for such activities as the unprofitable lakefront real estate apirg and the sumptuous city airport.

Levee board payments to the dock board, while nominally for maintaining levees of the industrial canal, actually, since this work costs less than $10,000 a year, represent what levee board taxpayers are contributing toward what the industrial canal cost to build. The levee board is under contract to continue these payments to the dock board for 30 years.

The board's $15,000,000 Lake Vista subdivision and $157,000 amusement park, fronting on Lake Pontchartrain

WEEVIL DANGERS FOR CROPS SEEN

Bateman Makes Report As Jones Prepares To Leave For Capital

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 3.—(P)—Rapidly spreading boll weevil infestation cast a shadow across an otherwise slightly brighter crop picture for Louisiana described by J. W. Bateman, director of the Louisiana State university extension division, in his weekly report.

Meanwhile, Governor Sam Jones prepared to leave for Washington tomorrow to solicit aid from federal agencies in meeting a widening emergency created by the overabundant spring and summer rains.

A real crisis loomed for many farmers and continuing rains only served to increase conditions favorable for further infestation from weevils in the already badly-damaged cotton crop.

Bateman reported that hot dry weather in Caddo parish caused rapid fruiting of cotton with reports that if good weather continues during August a fair crop will be produced. Fear was expressed, however, that increased weevil infestation might result if rains continue. Good feed crops are assured for most of Caddo parish.

Weevils were reported spreading daily in Grant and Webster parishes with cotton plants becoming too rank for proper fruiting and maturity. Cotton prospects were better in DeSoto, however, with the crop fruiting well, although there were some reports of cotton shedding from boll weevil and other causes.

In Rapides parish, cotton crop damage was estimated at 60 per cent, corn 50 per cent and food crops 80 per cent. Increasing weevil infestation added to the gloomy outlook there.

Bateman reported general conditions of crops in Bienville and Claiborne parishes showed some improvement where earlier floods and heavy rains had inflicted heavy damage.

In the northeast section, reports from West Carroll and Morehouse parishes were that cotton was slightly improved with fields dry enough for farmers to cultivate but weevil infestation was increasing rapidly. In some spots in West Carroll the pests had taken over 25 per cent of the crops Bateman said.

The parish emergency crop committee in Acadia parish estimated that less than 50 per cent the cotton crop would be produced there and asserted that 500 families would need immediate aid and that 2,000 other families would need later aid. Food crops were damaged 80 per cent but damage to rice was small, being estimated at 5 per cent.

Sugarcane in St. Martin parish continued to make vigorous growth during the week despite its grassy condition, Bateman reported. Old corn has done well but late corn has been greatly damaged and home gardens virtually destroyed. Boll weevil damage was increasing in the parish.

Indications in Terrebonne parish were that the cane crop would be about 65 per cent and the corn crop about 50 per cent, he said.

Prospects in Jeff Davis parish were for decreased rice yields owing to excess rain and lack of sunshine. Home gardens are in bad shape but early corn shows prospects of good yields, it was reported.

Cotton in Vermilion bloomed well but was not holding its fruit, and some farmers reported grown bolls rotting on stalks.

Weevil infestation in cotton fields in West Feliciana parish was reported as high as 75 per cent where cotton has not been poisoned. In fields where no poison has been used weevils will get a major portion of the crop, Bateman said. Sweet potatoes will produce only 50 to 60 per cent of a crop in the parish, owing to lateness of planting and insufficient cultivation, he said, while pastures are good, cattle improving, and hay very promising.

This Red Cross work is only one phase of assistance rendered worthwhile causes by members of the league.

PARALYSIS VICTIM IS BEAUTY WINNER

Miss Pauline Powell Earns Title; To Compete In National Contest

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 3.—(P)—The judges didn't know Friday night when they chose Miss Pauline Powell, 18, from a bevy of Southern beauties to be Miss New Orleans of 1940, that they were rewarding raw courage and fortitude as well.

For Miss Powell, who will compete at Atlantic City for the title of Miss America, came to her honor the hard way—the infantile paralysis.

She was stricken as a child of three when her parents lived in Houston, Tex., and doctors despaired of her ever being able to walk again. They advised heavy casts, but her mother declined and patiently through 12 years she daily massaged her daughter's limbs for hours and steadily urged her to walk.

Finally the child learned to walk again, but until two years ago one leg was more than an inch shorter than the other, giving her a decided limp. Even today a drawn tendon requires her to wear quite high heels, as she cannot touch one heel to the floor.

FUQUA WILL SPEAK ON L. S. U. PROGRAM

BATON ROUGE, Aug. 3.—(P)—Major-General Stephen Ogden Fuqua, United States army, retired, will return to Louisiana after a long absence to deliver the summer commencement address this week at the Louisiana State University, his alma mater.

A brother of the late Governor Henry Fuqua and brother-in-law of the late Colonel Thomas D. Boyden, L. S. U. president from 1886 to 1927, Major-General Fuqua now serves as a military commentator on European conditions.

Four hundred summer school students will receive degrees at commencement exercises Wednesday night, bringing the 1939-40 school year's graduates to a total exceeding 1,500. Approximately 140 advanced degrees will be given out.

Charity League Members Working For War Victims

Local Women Aid Red Cross In Preparing Materials To Be Sent Abroad

The war in Europe has broadened the scope of public service by members of Monroe's Junior Charity League, and today that organization which has always been active in any worthwhile community project are busy aiding the unfortunate victims of aggression through Red Cross work.

The policy of the Junior Charity League of Monroe has always been to aid all other charitable organizations of Ouachita parish. The presidents and chairmen of these organizations never hesitate to call upon the league with the knowledge that its members are ready and anxious to do their share.

The fight against tuberculosis has always found an ally in the Junior Charity League. Every year since the group of Monroe women organized the league, they have aided in the Christmas sale of T-B seals especially in the downtown area. When the G. B. Cooley sanatorium was nearing completion, the league asked "What can be done?" After discussing the needs of the sanatorium, it was decided to furnish the dining room in its entirety.

The opening of the sanatorium found league members present, proud of the aid they had furnished in the fight against the dread disease.

Any phase of charity which has to do with child welfare is dear to the hearts of Junior Charity League members. The Crippled Children's Easter sale has been aided by the league each year. This organization, though young in years, has become a special "pet" of league members.

When President Roosevelt called attention to the need for rehabilitation of infantile paralysis victims, the Junior Charity League again moved forward to contribute its part. Every year the league places booths in the downtown areas to aid with the March of Dimes and sell tickets to the balls and parties held in connection with the drive.

In November of each year the Red Cross has asked the league to help in the annual Roll Call. Last year, under the league's supervision, more members responded to the call in the residential section than ever before.

And now the Junior Charity League has stepped up its activities as a result of the devastation of parts of Europe and the plight of refugees who have become victims of the war. The members have responded wholeheartedly to the plea for assistance.

The league has charge of inspecting, packing and shipping of surgical dressings made by the local chapter, and members may be found working daily at Neville High School where such activities are centered.

Besides playing a vital part in the preparation of clothing and bandages to be sent to war-torn countries of Europe, the league has materially aided in the drive for Red Cross funds throughout the community. The league has recognized the need for more an dmore funds with which to assist the unfortunate victims of war, and the entire energies of the organization have been pledged toward this end.

In this time of stress, the individual members of the Junior Charity League are knitting, sewing and rolling bandages, and thus the league is contributing materially to another worthwhile cause.

WON'T TAKE PLEA IN MURDER CASE

Mrs. Wynne Refuses To Act One Way Or Other At Her Arraignment

KANSAS CITY, Aug. 3.—(P)—Mrs. Grace Wynne, 50, whose arrest in New Orleans climaxed a five-year search, refused to enter a plea at her arraignment today on a first degree murder charge.

She was returned to jail without bond to await an August 12 preliminary hearing after J. J. Dougherty, peace officer, entered a plea of innocent for her.

Mrs. Wynne told Dougherty she would not plead to the charge until she had talked to Monsignor J. W. Keyes, pastor of St. James Catholic Church.

Mrs. Wynne is accused of slaying the wife of her former husband, the late John A. Thompson, from whom she had been divorced 15 years, in 1934.

She escaped from the St. Joseph, Mo., Asylum several months after the shooting. A new hearing on her sanity has been set for next Monday in probate court.

COAST GUARD SETS BIRTHDAY PROGRAM

BOSTON, Aug. 3.—(P)—The oldest branch of the nation's armed forces, the United States Coast Guard, opened a week's celebration today of its 150th anniversary, privileged to turn the log back through an unbroken record of service often more perilous and varied than that of any other government department.

The coast guard shares the hazards of war with the army, navy and marine corps, but has neither armistice nor peace while the seas remain broken and unbridled.

Last year, more than 10,000 lives were snatched from peril, often in hair-breadth rescues, and vessels and cargoes valued at $63,723,566 were assisted to safety, where otherwise they might have found Davy Jones' capacious locker. Totals for the current year probably will be approximately the same and for several years rescues have averaged 8,000 or 9,000.

WRITES LIFE SKETCH, FUNERAL PLANS, DIES

MERIDIAN, Miss., Aug. 3.—(P)—Writing a sketch of his life and giving instructions regarding his funeral, as death approached, Frank M. Murray, 64, linotype operator and world traveler, died at his home in Meridian Friday.

He was employed by the Meridian Star and formerly was an operator in Jackson, Vicksburg and other Mississippi cities. Funeral services were held today.

SATURDAY MARRIAGES IN CLEVELAND JUMP

CLEVELAND, Aug. 3.—(P)—The Cleveland marriage license office had its biggest Saturday half-day in history, with 180 couples applying. "The rush has been building up for a week, starting just about the time the debate over the conscription bill got hot," an attaché explained.

OFFICERS ELECTED
TALLULAH, Aug. 3.—(Special)—Officers were elected at the monthly meeting of the Finn Home Demonstration club, held in the home of Mrs. W. A. Moffett, with Mrs. Frank Stewart presiding.

Mrs. M. E. Machen was elected president; Mrs. Effie Premidge, vice-president; Mrs. P. C. Byrd, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. P. C. Hammond, reporter.

Refreshments were served Mesdames Frank Stewart, Eva Russell, Effie Premidge, G. G. Green, M. E. Machen, Ernest Parker, R. L. Melton, Mae Hammond, P. G. Byrd, and Miss R. Elizabeth Williams.

BAD PILLOWS

GIFFORD, Ia., Aug. 3.—(P)—Richard Cordt's weariness cost him his life. The 30-year-old Marshalltown, Ia., man fell asleep on a railroad bridge. A freight train hit him and death was instantaneous.

NEGRO ARRESTED HERE ON CHARGE OF MURDER

J. B. Butler, a negro, was arrested Saturday night and placed in the parish jail on a charge of murder, Monroe police reported.

Butler hit a negro woman, Ivey Lewis, with a brick on July 28, and was arrested by the Monroe police and fined $50 in city court by Judge W. M. Harper. Saturday afternoon, the negro woman died.

Butler was rearrested by the police and transferred to the parish jail awaiting action by the September grand jury, according to police.

The body of the negro woman is at the Miller Funeral Home.

PLANS DISCUSSED

JONESBORO, Aug. 3.—(Special)—Plans for the new organization, "The Women's Division of Christian Service," to take the place of the Women's Missionary society, were discussed at a recent meeting of the Methodist Women's Missionary society held at the church.

The pastor, Rev. W. D. Milton, appointed the following committee: Study committee, Mrs. W. S. McDonald, Mrs. I. J. Allen, and Rev. Milton; publicity committee, Mrs. E. L. Meredith, Mrs. W. O. Corley, Mrs. J. F. Sneed, and Mrs. P. M. Dunn; nominating committee, Mrs. A. A. Meredith, Mrs. Paul Sunston, and Mrs. O. C. Edwards; arrangements committee, Mrs. R. C. Jeffers, chairman.

MARSHAL NAMED

FERRIDAY, La., Aug. 3.—(Special)—Mayor A. B. Crothers and members of the board of aldermen announce the appointment of Arthur O. Smith as city marshal, effective immediately.

Chief Smith succeeds Marshal E. E. Burkin who served under the administration of Mayor E. W. Vogt. A night marshal will also be appointed at once it was announced. Chief Smith has been a resident of Ferriday for a number of years. He was formerly in the lumber business and is well known over the parish.

MCARL IS DEAD

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(P)—John Raymond McCarl, a former comptroller general who died of a heart attack Friday, will be buried Monday at McCook, Neb.

Mrs. McCarl is accompanying her husband's body by train to the family's home town.

During 1932 English railroads carried more than 1,000,000,000 passengers, with only one accident, in which three lives were lost.

SCOUTS TO STAGE PLAY ON TUESDAY

Funds Will Be Used For Annual Camping Trip To Mississippi Coast

STERLINGTON, Aug. 3.—(Special)—Boy Scout Troop No. 67 of Sterlington and Fairbanks will present "Kids Awakening," a splendid Scout play in four acts, by Raymond Osborne Hanson, Tuesday night at the A. L. Smith School auditorium, starting promptly at 8 p.m.

Bill Myers, assisted by Tom D. Wafer, scoutmaster, is directing the play.

The drama is a gripping story of a street gang of boys, directed by an adult leader, whose ideals are changed through contact with the right types of men and boys. Every moment is full of action and the play is replete with amusing as well as dramatic situations. Every scoutmaster in this council should urge their Scouts and Scout parents to see this show, leaders said.

The play is being presented for the purpose of raising funds to defray the expenses of the annual educational summer camp. The troop, under the leadership of Mr. Wafer, takes a long trip and camps for 10 to 15 days. The trips and camps are educational recreation for the Scouts.

On August 17, the entire troop will depart for Biloxi, Miss., where it has rented Camp Wilkes, a regular Boy Scout camp, for a 14-day stay.

Included on the program for the Scouts who make the trip are excursion rides on the President Roosevelt, which has been chartered to carry the Scouts out in the Gulf.

Among the cruises to be made is one to Chandelier Island, 30 miles off the coast, where the boys will get some real fishing and salt water swimming. They will also go to Ship Island, visiting the different points of interest, including old Fort Massachusetts and the lighthouse. Horn Island will be another cruise.

All kinds of Scout craft will be taught, including sail-boat and life saving. A national examiner will teach the life saving course, while a Sea Scout ship from El Dorado, captained by W. A. (Bill) Halliburton, will be the scene of sail-boat instructions.

LEADERS TO SHORT COURSE ARE NAMED

EROS, Aug. 3.—(Special)—Mrs. R. C. Wilder and Mrs. Ralph Haynes were selected to attend the short course in Baton Rouge, at a recent meeting of the Cadeville Home Demonstration club held in the home of Mrs. Wilder, with Mrs. Edgar Hamilton as hostess.

Mrs. Wilder presided, and Miss Whitley discussed tenant farming. Mrs. Leland Coats reported on the Achievement Day program.

Refreshments were served to Mesdames Wilder, Haynes, Hamilton, Lee Wilder, Coats, Olive Golson, Lizzie Golson, J. H. Henry, Samuel Henry, Antoinette Survant, and Miss Ola Golson. Misses Effie Golson and Whitley were guests at this meeting. The next meeting will be held with Mrs. Leland Coats.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

SICILY ISLAND, Aug. 3.—(Special)—The board of stewards of the Methodist church here, met Wednesday with the pastor, Rev. C. F. Reed, to appoint a building committee for the Sunday school rooms to be constructed.

The following committee was appointed: M. I. Saltzman, W. T. Woodward, E. W. Chisum Jr., T. L. Hardin, and J. W. Peniston. Mrs. Jessie McNair will continue to serve as treasurer of the funds.

CARS COLLIDE

Automobiles driven by Lonnie Medeiros, driver for 404 Taxi Company, and Levi Jackson, Negro, collided at 8th and Adams streets early last night. No one was injured and the cars were only slightly damaged, according to police who investigated the accident.

PREDICTION COMES TO PASS IN BATTLE

Strange Forecast Made By Magazine Author In 1908 Is Revealed

SEATTLE, Aug. 3.—(P)—"Terrific explosions," wrote Arthur B. Reeve, "will rend huge, jagged holes in the earth; tons of metal will crash suddenly from the clear blue sky."

The year was 1908, and Reeve was writing an article for a magazine which carried on its cover photographs of William Howard Taft, William Jennings Bryan and Theodore Roosevelt.

But Reeve was not thinking of those calm gentlemen. His article was entitled "newest man-killing devices and the warless age."

Among the devices, he said, would be aerial torpedoes, anti-aircraft guns, mine-laying motorcars, electric artillery.

"This," he declared, "is war—war in 1938."

The peculiarly prophetic article, which appeared in the November, 1908, issue of Hampton's Broadway Magazine, was brought to attention by J. N. Farrar, a salesman who discovered the issue in a collection of old periodicals.

Some of Reeve's other predictions for the 1938 war:

Dirigibles advancing under the protection of manufactured clouds.

Seismographs used to locate "noiseless, smokeless, flashless" artillery.

Spectroscopes used to detect presence of aerial gases.

Armored cars which would dig trenches by blasting while moving at high speed.

Tiny submarines which would be launched from battleships.

Flights "from London to Paris, New York to Boston, by projectile."

Describing a battle scene—in the war of 1938—where "a constant rain of steel bullets whips about everything that moves," Reeve wrote:

"Nothing can be seen in that valley of death except effects; the causes are hidden with all the ingenuity of the human brain is capable."

"Everything is tense with a nerve-racking suspense such as ancient warfare never knew. Heroism has taken on a new meaning; it consists in being here at all."

In defense of his own prophecy, he said:

"Is this the dream of a Munchausen, idle flight of fancy? Not a bit of it. The cold, grim fact of the matter is that practically every engine of destruction that will make war so diabolical is invented today, 1908."

The editors of Hampton's Broadway Magazine injected the only sour note into Reeve's prognostication. An editor's note accompanying the article declared:

"War in 1938 might bankrupt the world. Mr. Reeve presents some terrific facts by authority of the foremost living inventors of war engines and agencies. They mean that the end of war is probably in sight."

BLIND VOTERS ORGANIZE POLITICAL ORGANIZATION

WICHITA, Kans., Aug. 3.—(P)—Wichita's newest political organization is made up of 16 blind voters.

They organized to support Lawrence Q. Lewis, Democratic candidate for state senator. Each member pledged to canvass his own residential block and as many others as possible before Tuesday's primary election.

OUACHITA PARISH BANDS WILL START REHEARSALS

The Ouachita parish school bands will start rehearsals Monday, it was announced today.

The second band will start rehearsals on Monday, continuing through Friday, starting at 9 a. m. The concert band will have rehearsals on Monday and Tuesday starting at 7:30 p. m.

CLUB MEETS

DREW, Aug. 4.—(Special)—The Home Demonstration Club met Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. W. Gilliland for its regular monthly meeting.

Five delegates were selected to represent the club at the agricultural short course to convene in Baton Rouge August 12-16. Both committee chairman were elected for the home demonstration booths to be held at the fair this fall.

NEW WATCHDOG

President Roosevelt has nominated U. S. Army Engineer Colonel Glen Edgerton, above, as governor of the Panama canal. He succeeds Brigadier General C. S. Ridley who recently resigned.

RED CROSS PLANS ANOTHER COURSE

Junior, Senior Life-Saving Classes Will Open At Pool Monday

Another class in Red Cross lifesaving is scheduled to begin at the Swayze Natatorium Monday from 6 p. m. to 8 p. m. This course covers all phases of life saving and water safety, with qualified Red Cross instructors giving their time and knowledge to the promotion of water safety.

Strong swimmers between 12 and 17 are eligible for the junior life saving course, and those from 17 and up, are eligible for the senior life saving course.

A class has just been completed, with six juniors and 10 seniors made eligible for Red Cross life saving certificates.

All who wish to register for the course are urged to get in touch with Jack Black at the Swayze Natatorium or the Red Cross office. These courses are free.

TALKATIVE WOMAN SAVES STORE CASH

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(P)—All business, a man stepped up to Orville Davis, wallpaper shop manager.

"This is a stickup," he said, politely. "I'm in a hurry. Kindly get out the back room."

The man's gun appeared equally business-like, as Davis complied.

As he was about to open the register, a woman sauntered in.

"I'd like to use your telephone," she said.

With a pained look, the intruder pointed to it. Just then it rang.

He answered and found himself taking a long order from a customer. That over, the woman called her number. She was quite chatty.

After waiting several minutes, Davis reported, the man gave up. With a longing glance at the register, and a disgusted one at the talkative visitor, he departed.

TWO BICYCLES STOLEN, MONROE POLICE ADVISED

The theft of two bicycles was reported to Monroe police yesterday.

One was taken at the Thornton residence, 2903 South Grand street. It is a McKellar wheel, size 28, serial number U-62942, painted red, aluminum and orange.

The other was the property of Abalone Taylor, Richwood, and is a Famous, size 28, painted black and red, serial number 17296.

This year's Indian jute crop apparently will reach an all-time high.

CHURCHES

ASSEMBLY OF GOD

Cypress and Crosby Sts.

West Monroe.

E. L. Tanner, Pastor

Last Sunday was men's day in all our churches. We are thankful for the response from the men. Today is women's day. Women will have charge of the devotional service. Sunday school begins at 9:45 a. m. Since Bastrop has led us the last four Sundays in attendance, we are exchanging superintendents for one Sunday. Mrs. Gardner, from Bastrop, will have charge of our Sunday school while our superintendent, Mr. Hamilton, will be in Bastrop. We are urging everyone to be present and let us boost our attendance to the largest for the year.

The pastor will occupy the pulpit and preach at both services, 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Christ Ambassador class meets at 6:45 p. m. The pastor will be in Shreveport next week attending the district council meeting of the Assemblies of God and the members of the church will have charge of the services Tuesday and Thursday nights.

Miss Eve Wright of El Dorado, Ark., will begin a revival meeting at this church Sunday, August 11.

JESUS ONLY APOSTOLIC CHURCH

2912 South Grand Street

Pastor, Rev. W. T. Hemphill

Services are being held Sunday, Wednesday, and Saturday nights beginning at 7:45. Come and hear the word of God, preached and manifested in its fullness.

We read in Hebrews 10:25, "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another; and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching."

We invite all in Monroe and West Monroe to attend services.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

West Monroe

Dr. A. E. Prince, Pastor

Professor Dallas Goss, Music Director

Miss Beulah Doerr, Educational Director

The weather is hot but 23 large fans are installed in the church auditorium for the comfort of the large congregations which attend the services. You are invited to worship with us. Dr. Prince will preach at 10:30 a. m. and 8 p. m. The Sunday school will meet at 9:45 a. m. The B. T. U. officers meet at 6:30 p. m. The Brotherhood and General B. T. U. meeting is at 7 p. m. Hear the pastor at both hours Sunday.

CENTRAL BAPTIST CHURCH

Monroe

3400 Lee Ave.

D. D. Cantrell, Pastor

C. Dale Cobb, Director Of Music

The Sunday school will be held 9:30 to 10:40 a. m. All the adult and young people's classes will be held as usual in the auditorium of the Lida Benton school building. All the other classes will be held in the church as usual. The teachers and officers will be early to meet those who come. Let all the enrollment of previous months be present today and bring your friends; let not the hot weather be master of your will power, but be on time and enjoy a good day in the service of the Lord.

The pastor will speak on the subjects today, "Jesus' Famous Sermon," and for the evening worship, "The Master's Call." It is a true saying that "It pleased the Lord to save the lost, by the preaching of the gospel." Will you make much of your soul needs in the worship of God under the power of the gospel?

All the members of the church are especially needed at the Training Union meeting at 6:45 p. m. Great services are conducted each Sunday evening and great blessings await all who come. The poet has the answer for all our ills:

"I've tried in vain a thousand ways
My fear to quell, my hopes to raise;
But what I need, the Bible says
Is ever, only Jesus."

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH

812 Mississippi Street

L. J. Brook, Pastor

Max Braswell, Choir Director

The pastor is giving his last message in the series of eight sermons on the "Second Coming of Christ." He insists that none who are interested in these messages miss this one as it is the climax of them all. The subject will be "The Final Home of the Redeemed of All Ages." He asks that you read the last two chapters of Revelation, to better prepare yourself for this message. The evening sermon will be evangelistic. There are many big sermons in some short epigrams, such as these:

"If a man once gets a good look at Jesus, he will never be the same man again."

"If it had not been for mission work, somewhere, sometime ago, where would you be today?"

"Your love has a broken wing if it cannot fly across the Ocean."

"The tragedy of many a life is, that time is not felt to be a trust."

"When your face is toward the sunshine, the shadows fall behind you."

FENIEL BAPTIST CHURCH

West Monroe, La.

Won't you come worship with us? Rev. Brooks of Monroe will preach at both services. Sunday school is at 10:00 a. m. and B. T. U. at 7 p. m. A free bus is provided for those who have no other way to attend. Everyone is extended a cordial invitation to come and be with us Sunday.

RIDGE AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

West Monroe

A. T. Mitchell, Pastor

Dean C. C. Colvert, president of Northeast College of L. S. U. will speak at the 11 o'clock hour and we urge our members and friends to take this opportunity to hear this Christian educator speak on some vital Christian subject. We will not have a sermon at the evening hour, but will have the Baptist training unions at 6:30.

The pastor is with the new Chapel Hill church in revival services and will be away Sunday. The program for Sunday will be as follows:

Sunday school at 9:45. L. L. Overton, superintendent.

Talk at 11 a. m., Dean C. C. Colvert, Baptist Training Union at 6:30, P. G. Kennedy, director.

FIRST CHURCH OF CHRIST, SCIENTIST

Auburn Avenue and North 2nd Street

Sunday school at 9:30 a. m.; morning worship services at 11 o'clock; Wednesday evening services at 8 o'clock.

Reading room, located at 626 Bernhardt Building, open from 11:30 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. every day except Sundays and national holidays.

"Love" is the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, August 4, 1940.

The Golden Text is: "O God, Thou art my God." Because Thy loving kindness is better than life, my lips shall praise Thee. (Psalms 63:1, 3.)

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "He that loveth not, knoweth not God; for God is love." (1 John 4.)

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "God is Love: More than this we cannot ask, higher we cannot look, farther we cannot go" (p. 6).

JACKSON ST. CHURCH OF CHRIST

St. John and Oak Streets

J. P. Lowrey, Minister

Bible classes, 9:45 a. m. Worship, 11 a. m. and 7:45 p. m. Young people meet at 6:30 p. m. Ladies' Bible class, Tuesday, 3 p. m. Prayer meeting, Wednesday, 7:45 p. m.

The attendance is fine at every service and 15 were added to the church during the month of July. Let us keep the good work going.

GRACE CHURCH

Fourth and Glenmar Streets

Edward Farren Hayward, Rector

Services for the 11th Sunday after Trinity are as follows: The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 7:30 a. m. This service is primarily for Holy Communion. The Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 9:30 a. m. This celebration is primarily for worship. The rector will preach at 9:30 a. m. Eucharist. At St. David's, Rayville, the rector will say Evensong at 4 p. m. and preach a sermon. These are the only services for this Sunday. On Tuesday, August 6th, which is the feast of "The Transfiguration of Christ," the Holy Eucharist will be celebrated at 9 a. m. This is the only service during the week in Grace church. Unfortunately, the Feast of the Transfiguration falls at a season when our congregations are scattered on seaside and mountain, where altar church going is not largely practiced. There is scarcely any comment needed on the Collect, Epistle and Gospel. It is interesting to note, however, that two of the three Apostles, who were present, later on, vouched for the reality of the Transfiguration. St. Peter says, "We were eye witnesses of His Majesty—this voice which came from heaven we heard when we were with Him in the Holy Mountain." And St. John testifies: "We beheld His glory as of the Only Begotten of the Father." The third witness, St. James, was earliest of all the Apostles called to suffer martyrdom, and thus to drink of the cup of suffering with the Master, as he had at the Transfiguration shared His momentary triumph. It is very difficult to explain in a few words the significance of the Transfiguration. It was transcendent Epiphany, a manifesting forth His Glory far surpassing any at other times accorded. Being found in fashion as a man, he was about to humble Himself yet further to man's lowest estate, and that by the accursed death of the cross.

FIRST METHODIST CHURCH

Jackson At Wood

A. M. Freeman, Pastor

"He Died for Us" is the theme for the morning worship. In the evening the pastor's topic will be "The Prayer of Humility." You are welcome to all the services of this church. If you are a visitor to our city or a stranger without a church affiliation, we urge you to worship with us.

The young people of the church are having a good attendance at the 6:45 Epworth League hour. Come and join them for an hour of study and fellowship.

The Society of Christian Service meets at the church Tuesday afternoon for the monthly business session.

GORDON AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

J. M. Alford, Pastor

Our mid-week prayer meeting last Wednesday evening was one of the best ever witnessed in the church, with about 30 in attendance. The meeting was led by Mr. J. T. Deal, and talks were made by the pastor and Rev. N. A. Burson. Church school exercises open today at 9:45 a. m. Our goal for the summer months is for an average of one hundred. We had more than an average congregation and a very fine service at the worship service last Sunday evening. At the close two new members were received into the church. The communion of the Lord's Supper will be administered at the morning service today, and the pastor will deliver a temperance lecture at the evening hour, 7:30 o'clock. The two Epworth Leagues will render programs at 6:30 p. m. The Woman's Society of Christian Service will have their regular monthly business meeting Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock. We appreciate the splendid cooperation by so many of our interested workers, and earnestly solicit the help of everyone; and cordially invite one and all to attend all the services today.

STONE AVENUE METHODIST CHURCH

I. L. Yeager, Pastor

Some years ago, a story appeared in "Youth's Companion" as follows: "A lady who had a fine breed of chickens had been shelling corn for them with her own hands, when she was overcome to find that a valuable pearl was missing from a ring on her finger. She felt sure it was in the corn, but to find it would be like finding a needle in a haystack; she could only grieve for it as lost. But each morning, before allowing more corn to run into the trough which the fowls had emptied, she looked for it, and at last there it was alone except for some pebbles. The jewel, to her worth more than all her chickens, was to them as valueless as any common stone.

The value of a thing depends on the desire there is for it.

"For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul, or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?"—Eccles 12:26.

The wise man said: The whole duty of man, is to fear God, and keep His commandment."—Eccles 12:13.

We invite you to attend services with us this Lord's day, beginning with Sunday school at 9:45 a. m. Morning worship at 11 o'clock. Christian Endeavor at 7 p. m. Evening service at 7:45.

Circle meeting Tuesday afternoon at 2:30.

Midweek prayer service Wednesday evening at 7:45.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Grammont at Calape

Ernest Holloway, Pastor

During the absence of the pastor, the services of the church will be under the direction of the Pulpit Supply Committee, composed of Mr. Mark Stroud, Dr. D. M. Moore, and Mr. Curtis Seamon.

The services during August will be the Sabbath school, the morning worship, the young people, and the mid-week hour of prayer and praise.

Mr. L. R. Simpson, a member of the session, will speak at the Sunday morning worship. Will you hear Mr. Simpson? He has a message for you. Your presence will not only cheer him, it will prove a blessing to you.

Our God expects His people to carry on. Be thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life."—And let us not be weary in well-doing, for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.

A mutual welcome awaits you!

The Americas March Together

By the Act of Havana, the 21 free nations of the New World unanimously agree that no part of that world is to be the pawn of power politics in other continents. Practical means of preventing it are set up.

This is the Monroe Doctrine glorified. What the United States once proclaimed as its own policy is now the united policy of all 21 American nations. Machinery is provided to make it stick. The result of the Havana conference is greater and better than many hoped.

A light has been raised in a dark world. A dam has been built to halt the spread of totalitarianism.

In no other part of the world would such a meeting be possible. No other great power would do what the United States has done—deliberately forbear to use its power to coerce its neighbors, yet win them by patient argument and reason to its point of view. The Havana agreement is a triumph of reason and decency in a world which has been bowing to force alone.

Let no one think, however, that this settles the whole matter. Comment in European newspapers already shows that American unity infuriates the totalitarians. The German, Italian, Spanish, and Japanese efforts to gain political influence in South America will be redoubled.

But abandonment of the grandiose cartel scheme removes the slightest legitimate objection that Europe might make to American unity.

The American countries will trade with all, but they will insist on trading on equal terms, with no special advantages to any, and no privileged political positions swapped for a boatload of wheat, beef, or copper.

Havana marks a beginning, not an ending. Let there be no delusions. Having set up the rules, we must all play the game. The United States once set up a light before the world, wrote a set of rules—the League of Nations. Then it refused to play. This time it must play out the game.

As Leopoldo Melo, the Argentinian delegate, said at Havana, "We all made concessions. We must all make them in future if we are to weld the Americas all the more firmly together. No change of administration, no change of personnel in the State Department, must be allowed to shake the structure that has been so painstakingly built for more than a decade.

Both parties are presumably in favor of developing Pan-Americanism. It would be nationally serviceable for the opposition party to place itself squarely behind the Act of Havana, assuring our sister republics that this phase at least of American foreign relations is beyond either personality or party.

'WAR' BONDS?

Many states have a constitutional provision that permits them to issue bonds without a vote of the electorate "to repel invasion," or to "suppress insurrection." Those provisions are undoubtedly aimed at cutting red tape in case of a war.

Maine has just sold $1,000,000 worth of such bonds, and the state Supreme Court has ruled that it is legal.

This opens up the way for other states to do the same, possibly for armories or National Guard equipment, or anything else that could be construed as valuable in "repelling invasion."

This is a thing on which the states ought to go slow. There is no war. It is possible that state projects undertaken in this way might not dovetail in with national plans. And there is also always the possibility that money from bonds issued thus without a vote might be used for purposes whose defense value is most dubious.

Generally speaking, we will do well to look to the national government for our defense plans. State taxpayers probably should look hard at any efforts of their state governments to issue "war bonds."

DARK PROSPECT

Alas, sighs Robert, hairdresser to society and the screen, the blond is fast traveling the road of the Great Auk and the American Indian. No matter how earnestly we have been assured that gentlemen prefer blonds, Robert vows that the American woman is forsaking her golden and platinum tresses and going in for raven, chestnut and even henna.

Robert is almost plaintive about it—too bad, he allows, that with all the gloom in Europe that we should forego the brightness of golden locks.

After all, we suppose it's nothing to worry about. If the American woman (or the American man) switches back to a preference for the gold standard, one presumes the bottle is still on the shelf.

The United States army is seeking a good testing ground for the durability of the new infantry tanks. Had the generals thought of putting them on the highways Sunday afternoon?

Britain announces it is blockading all of Italy and the chances are that boot is going to pinch.

• BRUCE CATTON IN WASHINGTON

WASHINGTON—Selective military service proposed in the Burke-Wadsworth bill and denounced variously as "revolutionary" and "a dangerous innovation" is old stuff to the six-man Joint Army and Navy Selective Service Committee.

For years the committee has been devising just such a law, simplifying regulations, studying draft procedure in the United States during the World War and subsequent improvements in other countries.

Committee members are officers of the army, navy, marine corps, officers' reserve and national guard. If Congress enacts legislation for compulsory training these men will be the nucleus of the selective service headquarters staff.

They Want To Know—
Senator Edward Burke of Nebraska, co-author of the selective service bill, has been getting about 1,000 letters a day. Businessmen write that they think compulsory training is a good idea, mothers of sons between 21 and 31 say they think it's a bad idea.

Men who haven't finished paying for their education, or who want to know if their installment payments will have to be made if they are called up and get only $21 a month. Men on relief ask if their families will get relief checks if they're drafted.

Government lending agencies haven't formed a definite policy on these matters, which would probably be left to an administrative board of appeals.

Farm Security Administration and Federal Housing Administration officials point out that most of their borrowers are men past 31 and not likely to be classified as "available for immediate service."

It seems likely that WPA would continue relief payments to dependents of men called up.

M-Day Changes
M-Day won't be quite as it was planned, if Congress agrees on peacetime military service. For one thing the "civilian effort" will be unnecessary.

Goal of the protective mobilization plan was 750,000 recruits in 60 days. The first 60 days after the United States entered the war in 1917, only 200,000 men enlisted.

M-Day planners did not expect more enthusiasm from a later generation. So they were going to couple selective service with "civilian effort"—specifically, committees of leading citizens in each community who would "promote" recruiting.

This "sell the war" campaign was to get out volunteers during the month or so which would elapse before the selective service machinery could be geared to wartime speed.

According to present plans, a peacetime selective service law would bring in more than 750,000 young men for military training by April, 1941.

Embarrassing question: Selective service questionnaires ask elected officials who hold federal, state, municipal and county jobs, "How much of your time is actually devoted to your position?" And in an election year too!

JIMMIE FIDLER In Hollywood

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3.—Dear Staff: Do you remember the child singer, Jacqueline Nash, who appeared in "They Shall Have Music," the Jascha Heifetz picture? That was two years ago, so perhaps you have forgotten I haven't. She was so charming and her voice is lovely. I felt certain she would go on to better things. I wasn't alone in that opinion; every critic gave Jacqueline praise and many gave her rave reviews.

Today I learned that the child and her mother are up against it. They can't get work. This industry screams about lack of talent, yet this kid whose voice is so thrilling and whose personality makes you want to gather her into your arms, can't get a job. Her father, in Canada, can send her only $25 a month, so mother and child are doing badly.

When I think how near Hollywood came to overlooking Deanna Durbin (MGM turned her down), you remember, and it was only by accident she got a job at Universal that led to a contract. I shudder. In five years, Deanna has earned millions of dollars for Universal. Executives of the company even admit under pressure that she saved the studio from bankruptcy. Yet she was almost lost in the shuffle when MGM failed to see her possibilities.

Little Miss Nash may or may not be as talented as Deanna. I suppose that's a matter of opinion. But I think she's prettier, more appealing and has a better voice than Miss Durbin at the same age. The public loves talented youngsters, so tell me, why is Jacqueline Nash not working?

JIMMIE FIDLER.

Dear Boss: How can you blame producers for being leery of kid stars. Look at the case of Shirley Temple—washed up at 20th Century-Fox because she could make more than 10 or 12 millions in profits for the studio. Look at Mickey Rooney—what does he do but become the No. 1 box office star and make all the other players on the lot jealous, which, of course, might easily jeopardize studio morale. And besides, who wants to pay a lot of taxes on excess profits—especially in times like these?

Here's today's gossipy gleanings: Tensie Power is en route for NY to spend a week's vacation and escort his Annabella back home. Someone must have reminded Darryl Zanuck about Virginia Gilmore's game, being voted Filmtown's shapeliest—a special sequence is being added to her next pic, "Heil Jenny," to display "em."

Add refugees: The wife and seven year-old son of Sir Cedric Hardwicke, en route to Hollywood for war's duration. . . . Jimmy Stewart, who's been piling up flight credits, expects to qualify for a transport license, come fall. Incidentally, producers are wondering how Uncle Sam will regard studio bans against air activity for contractors of military age.

Credit kid autograph-hunters who haunt Paramount gates with a new ruse. Ray Milland was the first victim. As he stepped out, a pretty teenager suddenly threw both arms around his neck, hissed "Hold it, please," and clung while her pal took a candid-camera snap. Two days later, she was again on hand to apologize and beg for his signature on the finished print.

While you were out, Lili Damita called to report that the dove of peace is eating out of her and Errol Flynn's hands. . . . Credit Charles Farrell for a smart decision in the leading role of "Atomized Outlook," which will be footlogged in Santa Barbara the 12th, he at last turns his back on juvenile status and plays the papa of a grown son. . . . Has anyone commented on the fact that Lynn Carr will be the Marx Brothers' 10th leading lady in 10 pics? The strain must be awful. . . . Eleanor Powell's frequent visits to the Metro lot don't mean that she's ready for another assignment; medics still say no dancing for months.

Warren William, gadgeteer, has enrolled for a correspondence course in electrical engineering. . . . Wonder if 20th, currently casting "Hudson's Bay Company," knows that their white horse contractor, John Sutton, once worked for H. B. C. in Canada's hinterlands? . . . Anita Louise, mixed offers for a tour of the Cawback Circuit because she won't leave her hubby-Buddy Adler. . . . Have you seen Jeanette MacDonald's new custom-built jalopee, upholstered in the MacDonald plaid and rigged with a horn that toots "The Campbells Are Coming"? (A car like that ought to do plenty of miles to a gallon).

By the way, Jeanette has just authorized a 24th printing of her pamphlet, "No Royal Road to Song." Hollywood has another reason to be sore at Hitler—the Nazis seized "bits of 20th's 'The Rains Came' in Oslo, took them to Berlin, and are showing 'em—without royalties! Coolest sight in town: Mary Martin in that foam green slack suit—with nothing tight waist and pants—except Mary.

PERSIAN KITTENS BORN WITH EYES OPEN!

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON
THE SHAKING STONE BRIDGE—The strangest monument ever erected to one's debility, is the "Shaking Bridge" of Llanrwst, over the Conway river, Wales. It was built by the famous English architect Inigo Jones (1573-1652), who was a friend of Ben Jonson. Jones was a dyspeptic and a sufferer from palsy. In imitation of his own trembling affliction, he constructed the bridge so ingeniously that it will shake strongly if a person will strike his back against the parapet of the center arch. The bridge has endured for 306 years. (1634-1940). (Copyright, 1940, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Human Side Of The News

By EDWIN C. HILL

(Copyright, 1940, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That ancient and honorable tear-jerker, "The Old Homestead," is still dragging in the customers in its old home town at West Swazey, N. H., this time to raise funds to repair the church organ. Let's go to the show tonight with the good people of West Swazey. The curtain rises.

The scene is Broadway and Tenth street, in wicked New York City. The gray pile of old Grace Church rises at the right. A dim light illumines the stained glass windows. A gentleman in a top hat and evening clothes stands on the pavement and with a yawn of his arm holds back a gray helmeted policeman who grips a nightstick. A young man, quite ossified, sits prone on the cold, hard sidewalks of the town. Over him bends an old gentleman, with silvery hair, who looks like a combination of Henry Ward Beecher, P. T. Barnum and William J. Bryan, all put in one person.

Tenderly this patriarch lifts the fallen one and pillows him on a rheumatic knee. Suddenly his broad and ruddy face takes on a look of surprise and sorrow. "Why," he exclaims, "it's my boy, Rubie!" Five hundred women are sobbing audibly. Five hundred strong men seek in vain to veil the furtive tear. The youth comes to his senses and looks into the face of his sorrowing father. Remorse and repentance overwhelm him. He gathers himself together. He will go back to the farm and take a look at his old man. "Why," he exclaims, "it's my boy, Rubie!" Five hundred women are sobbing audibly. Five hundred strong men seek in vain to veil the furtive tear. The youth comes to his senses and looks into the face of his sorrowing father. Remorse and repentance overwhelm him. He gathers himself together. He will go back to the farm and take a look at his old man.

And we are only a small part of the 10,000,000 who over a quarter of a century have paid $5,000,000 to witness the most popular play which ever toured the land. "The Old Homestead."

It evolved from a one-act drama of rural life which the author, Demon Thompson, called "Look a Whitcomb!" As "The Old Homestead" it played to 300,000 persons in its first three months. After ten years Mr. Thompson sought to retire. He suffered from rheumatism, and he had to do the role of the kindly old farmer, masking from adoring audiences the terrific pains which wracked his body.

The character grew upon him so that offstage he was a real "Uncle Joshua," noted for his charity and benevolence. He had one weakness, which if known generally, might have horrified many of his patrons in the hinterlands, and that was gambling. Between acts on Broadway he would find time to get to the poolrooms and place his bets on the horses.

They tell the story that while playing in New Orleans, a friend stopped him as he was about to enter into a gambling house, saying, "Don't go in there. The game is crooked!" Thompson paused for a second and then pushed on with this rejoinder: "Well, it's the only place in town that is open." He died in 1911 at the age of 77.

Among the hundreds of refugees fleeing the terror riding Europe was the famous Belgian dramatist Maurice Maeterlinck, rich yesterday, broke today. He's 77 now, the author of "The Blue Bird" and so many other delightful plays, and his hair is quite white.

"All is gone," he says. "I am stunned and yet I am surprised at the ease with which I accept all this."

I think the last previous time Maeterlinck was over here was in 1919, when Sam Goldwyn imported the Belgian genius and then didn't know what to do with him when he got him. He was quite a flop as it turned out. Maurice Maeterlinck reached the zenith of his career with the aid of a great dramatic actress, the gorgeously beautiful Georgette Leblanc. She stood between him and a world which he never did understand. Like the exquisite figure of Light in the play, she knew where to look for the blue bird of happiness. She put herself in "The Blue Bird" and played the part of Light.

In the cast was a lovely girl of 15 named Renee Lahon. Maeterlinck was attracted to her and eight years later Georgette packed her belongings to make way for the young second wife of the middle-aged poet. But she never could be to Maeterlinck what Georgette had been, for as he himself wrote: "Man is granted only one love."

A strange being, Maeterlinck, and a strange fascinating woman, Georgette Leblanc, especially with the three-carat diamond she wore in the middle of her forehead. In time to come some one will write a masterpiece called "Maurice and Georgette," but the author will try all in vain to explain the man who could say so beautifully, "There is no death," and, at the same time, bump off his wife's pet cat with a shotgun.

OUR CHILDREN

By Angelo Patri
ENTIRE FAMILY MUST TRAIN CHILD

Every parent alive wants his children to be admired. They beam with joy when they see Sister or Brother showing to advantage and winning applause. They enjoy living with good-mannered children who "behave themselves." Children do not get that way without a deal of bother. Somebody must teach the good manners and the accomplishments, and the rest of the family must help with all their might to create these worthy-to-be-praised children.

That is where the rub comes. Few people want to be bothered day in and day out with the wobbling, mistaken, bungling efforts of children. It is easy to say, "Hold your spoon this way the first time. It is easy the second, even the third time. But after that it is just a botheration. 'Why can't you hold that spoon as I told you?'" After that he usually holds the spoon any old way unless some one person, usually mother, patiently, tactfully, kindly persists in teaching the child to hold his spoon correctly.

Table manners do not come at one telling, nor at three. They are the result of years of teaching. That teaching has to begin as soon as the child begins to eat. The very tone of his mother's voice when she gives him his first bottle, or breast feeding, makes its mark on the eating habits of the child. From there on to his maturity, he has to be taught and held to the right practice.

The atmosphere of the home has a great deal to do with the children's manners. Manners ought to merge into what we call manner. There the whole attitude of the person is such that any action he performs is certain to be performed with grace and gentleness, the essence of manners. But manner is the flower of manners. It comes only after years of practicing the little things that make up the art of daily life.

If father shouts and scolds, how can the children have good manners? If he refuses to practice good table manners, how can the children be expected to have good manners? They have to learn them by imitation and daily practice. If mother thinks it too much trouble to set the table correctly, if she thinks it is simpler to serve sandwiches at the kitchen table at noontime daily, how can the children learn to eat at a table spread with all that belongs there at formal luncheons? To make a habit your own you must see, feel, hear, taste, smell, and practice its characteristic elements until they are as familiar as your own voice.

Everybody wants to have children

TENSION MAKES PEOPLE IRRITABLE AND ANTI-SOCIAL.
By Dr. Josephine L. Rathbone

Very often there are psychological factors which overshadow or accentuate physical signs of excess tension, and which, when combined with physical signs, complete a thoroughly unattractive picture. Although physical symptoms of hypertensive fatigue are bad enough in themselves, when combined with psychological disturbances they become distressing to one's relatives and associates, as well as to oneself.

Because the psychological signs affect one's relationships with other people they are often more noticeable. Tense people become very sensitive to the behavior of other people. Friendships become ragged, quarrels grow in magnitude, family and business relationships become strained; and all become one or both members of a partnership become tense and irritable.

How dangerous is overfatigue when it comes to the health of the individual! And how priceless is relaxation if it can help to keep social relationships sane and constructive!

It is not always easy to be agreeable, and pleasing dispositions do not come from the inside. There are certain techniques which everyone can try, however.

If you find it particularly hard to get along with a certain person, ask that person to share some social event with you. Be sure to choose an event in which he is most likely to find enjoyment. That event may be a day at the seashore or a picnic in the country, all the better, for probably you will not be competing under such circumstances.

If you find yourself becoming irritable with your close friends or with associates, seek a little quiet and rest. One evening spent in your own room or one extra period of physical rest may be all that is needed.

Try to acquire a great many interests besides your business or your family. Try to be unselfish in these interests.

When you become more tired and worried about your selfish designs, you may expect to become more irritated with your associates. The fault will be your own, not theirs.

NEXT: True relaxation needed.

"The Isle of Dogs" is so named because the King of England's kennels were kept there when Greenwich was a royal residence.

who shine socially as well as financially. The only way to gratify that laudable ambition is to live an example for them day by day, to offer them opportunities to practice good manners and social graces and desirable accomplishments in their home life.

Somewhere that goes to their home to teach children how to behave. The family, as a unit, must combine to help strengthen the hands of that person. In short, mother cannot do this alone. The whole family must help, and as it is to their own credit, why not?

Sunday School Lesson

Text: Psalm 19
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
Editor of Advance

Man lives in a wonderful world. The stars in the heavens have always challenged his imagination and interest, and the beauties of the earth have stirred an emotional response that has given to our richest poetical literature.

Among the noblest of these responses to the immensity, glory and beauty of the universe is the 19th Psalm. As the Psalm says concerning the heavens which declare the glory of God and the firmament which shows His handiwork, "There is no speech nor language; their voice is not heard."

Nevertheless, poets like himself have given voices to these wonders of nature, which speak a language of the soul that is no less real because it is not in words. The music of creation is suggested in the passage, "Their line is gone out through all the earth," for the reference seems to be to a line, or chord, that is struck in music.

This universe is not merely one of immensity and beauty; it is a moral universe related to the law of its Creator. How different is this song of creation and of the world in which we live from the voice of atheism that finds nothing in the universe of spiritual law and order, nothing that corresponds to man's own free spirit.

The sensitive poets and prophets of Israel manifested their faith and their courage in linking man with the Creator. They saw a universe not only upheld by physical law, but a universe in which there is moral law, a universe in which integrity and happiness of human life are based upon precepts and commandments.

In times such as these in which we live, in which scientific progress, human ingenuity, and human action and endurance are so extensively turned to ways of violence and destruction, one cannot help contrasting the world in which God has placed man with what man has done to that world and to himself.

How rich human life might be if, instead of greed and lust and false ambition, men had been willing to enjoy this world and to share all its good things with their fellow men. The inventive genius that we have turned to war and violence would have been sufficient to provide enough food and clothing and good habitation for everyone.

If even a small part of the efficient organization that men have created for military ends had been used to organize the life of mankind for peace and mutual helpfulness, what wonderful changes in the structure and organization of society might have been accomplished!

When we are tempted to feel that God has deserted His world, or when we say, "Why doesn't God stop the carnage?" do we consider how man has brought upon himself the horrors of today?

It is not God, but man, who is responsible for the failure of a world in the grip of war. How can we ever change all this until we get back into the spirit of the Hebrew prophets and poets? They are good guides to a new life for man and for society.

HUNGER STRIKERS REFUSE CHICKEN

Alleged Cult Leaders Won't
Eat When Families Bring
Food To Them

ADEL, Ga., Aug. 3.—(P)—Fried chicken and other delicacies placed before the alleged leaders of a snake-handling religious cult in jail here failed today to break their self-imposed hunger strike.

Sheriff W. I. Dougherty said the farmer-preacher, W. T. Lipham, apparently did not touch the food brought by his wife and other members of his family and left in his cell. "He just sat there and prayed," the sheriff said.

Lipham and Albert Rowan, father of six-year-old Letha Mae Rowan, are held on charges of assault with intent to murder, pending developments in the condition of the child, who was bitten by a poisonous snake at rites conducted by the cult nine days ago.

Sheriff Dougherty said Rowan, who like Lipham has refused food since Thursday, declined to eat today. Members of his family left food with him, but he refused to eat.

"He just whistles," added the officer. The two men are on different floors of the jail. Plenty of fresh water is kept in their cells, and earlier today Lipham asked for and was given a cup of coffee, which he appeared to relish.

Members of the cult say they can handle poisonous snakes "when the power is upon them." They say their faith will counteract the venom from the fangs.

Rowan's daughter, whose condition brought the rites of the cult to attention of the authorities, appeared improved today. She was bitten in the hand last week by a copperhead moccasin at a farm house meeting when she and eight others handled the snake.

Charges were lodged against Lipham and Rowan after the Rowan family refused medical treatment for the child.

Meanwhile investigation of the death of a woman two years ago following snake bites continued.

Sheriff N. N. Hughes, Berrien county, asked that Lipham be held pending a probe of the death of Mrs. Della Smith at Ray City, Ga., in July, 1938.

GOV. JOHNSON FLIES ON HIS FIRST FLIGHT

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 3.—(P)—Governor Paul B. Johnson who once said that if the Lord had intended for him to fly he would have given him wings, took his first airplane ride today.

The 60-year-old governor flew over the state capitol in a national guard observation plane and said afterward the trip didn't bother him in the least.

The governor took the flights to see if he could stand an airplane trip to Washington Sunday and concluded, "I believe I will enjoy my ride to Washington."

ARMY OFFICER DIES IN CRASH OF BOMBER

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 3.—(P)—An army training monoplane crashed and burned 18 miles southeast of here today, killing Dwight W. Brill, 48, Ellettsville, Ind., captain in the reserve officers corps.

Sergeant Edward E. Toye, 26, Fort Benjamin Harrison, a member of the organized army reserve corps, escaped by parachute.

Activity at Camp Beauregard this morning still was devoted to preparation for the "war games." This work is being done mostly by officers and enlisted men of the Eighth Infantry, under the command of Colonel C. C. Stokely. At present there are approximately 2,000 officers and enlisted men at Camp Beauregard including approximately 1,000 with the Eighth Infantry.

The adjutant general's office at Camp Beauregard was opened this morning with Major Lawrence E. Schick in charge. The office personnel includes 18 enlisted men, a warrant officer and two officers.

The Camp Beauregard First Evacuation Hospital already is in operation and is equipped to provide adequate care for the soldiers and guardsmen. The hospital has a 1,000-bed capacity. The maneuvers in the local area will represent only one of four phases in a nationwide national guard training program. Similar maneuvers will be held simultaneously in each of the army's three other areas bringing the total number of guardsmen and soldiers in training to approximately 300,000.

ARRESTED IN CRASH

JACKSON, Miss., Aug. 3.—(P)—State highway patrolmen early today arrested Archie Burtis Smith, 24, James, who they said swam Pearl river Friday to escape arrest after his truck collided with two United States Army troops on motorcycles.

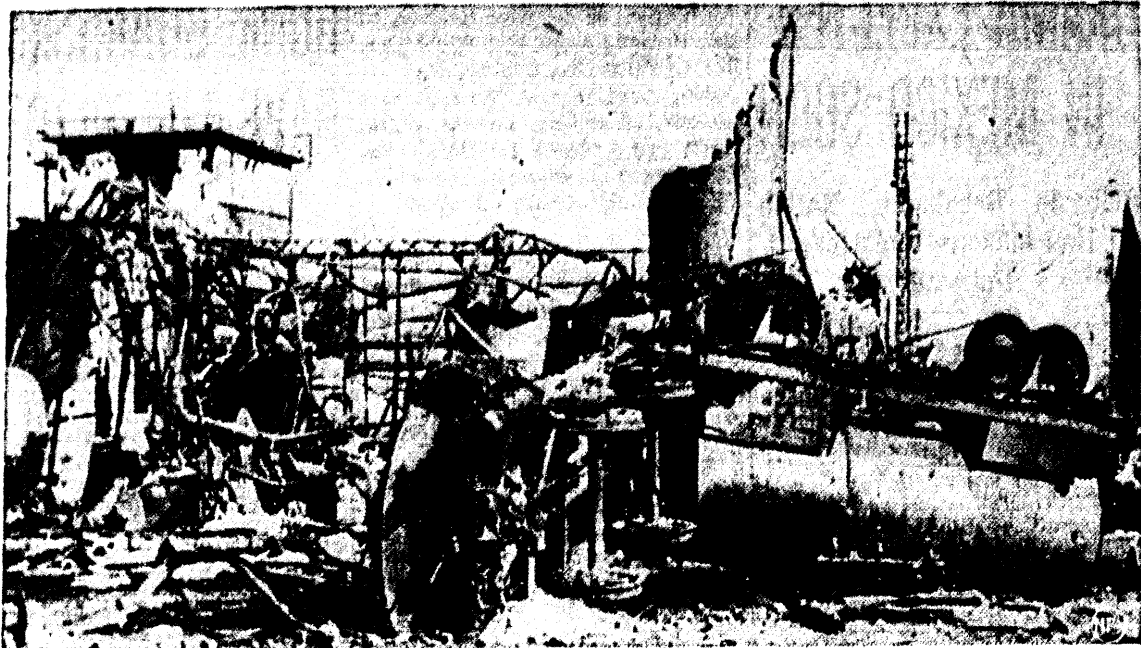

Smith was arrested on the edge of the Pearl river swamp in Rankin county after being seen by passersby. City police said that after colliding with the two troops the man had fled the scene and, when apprehended at the Pearl river bridge on the outskirts of Jackson, had jumped into the river.

Captain Jim Stockton, Jackson detective bureau, said Smith was being held for officers in Rankin county, where the accident occurred, while his companion, J. C. McBrayer, was being held for Winston county authorities, who Stockton said want the man for escaping jail at Louisville.

W. B. Moates and R. K. Creech, of the 79th Ordnance Company, Augusta, Ga., riders of the motorcycles which collided with Smith's truck, were given emergency treatment here for bruises and then released.

The interior temperatures of some stars is estimated at 1,800,000,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

THE END OF THE ROAD FOR THIS TRAIN

Munitions trains, their high-explosive freight making them doubly liable to destruction from the air, became coffins on wheels when hit. TROOPS BIVOUAC HERE OVERNIGHT

Ala., Friday. The two units spent Friday night at Meridian, Miss., in the Northeast Junior college football field early last night and the officers and men were fed there. They were housed in the stadium and field house of the college.

Other troops are expected to camp here as the date for the start of the maneuvers nears.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 3.—(P)—The first major phase of the United States Third Army's August maneuvers, involving more than 70,000 national guardsmen and regular soldiers, will be in full swing Sunday morning as troops begin concentrating in the Alexandria territory and at camps in Mississippi, Oklahoma and Colorado.

By August 12 troops troop movements of the entire number into the Louisiana-Sabine river area, with headquarters at Camp Beauregard here, are expected to get underway. The maneuvers will last until August 24.

No comprehensive schedule of troop movements has been released by the war department, but it was reported today that the troops will occupy generally the same areas in which they bivouaced during the Third Army's regular soldier maneuvers in May.

Virtually every community in Central Louisiana was host to one or more regiments at one time or another during the training period.

It was reported today that the 31st Division of the regular army will be encamped about four miles south of Woodworth, a short distance off Highway 165. The 23rd Division will bivouac about four miles south of McNutt in Kitchie's National Forest, and troops of the Fourth Corps will be located eight miles west of Zimmerman. The enlisted strength of the divisions could not be ascertained immediately.

Happenings At Capital

By Ben Grant
WASHINGTON, Aug. 3.—(P)—For many good it may do, Southern members of Congress are spreading the word around Capitol Hill that the South contributes more men to the army than any other section.

It is being suggested that this disproportionate recruiting from the South, although enlistments now are purely voluntary, be taken into consideration when the state quotas are fixed under any conscription bill. Southerners suggest it would be an excellent means of equalizing the army.

The south always has laid claim to the distinction of giving more than its share of manpower to the armed forces.

The turnover is so great that figures on any specific date are difficult. But the army reports that the Fourth Corps Area, composed of eight Southern states, is leading all the other eight areas now in recruiting for the bigger army. Those eight states are North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Tennessee, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

In second place is the Eighth Corps Area, composed of Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Colorado, and Oklahoma. The Fifth Corps Area with Kentucky, West Virginia, Ohio, and Indiana, is third.

Proud Tennesseans point out that the term "Volunteer State" grew out of the always heavy enlistments from Tennessee for any national emergency.

Representative Bryson, Democrat, South Carolina, tells colleagues that Union county, S. C., was the only county in the United States where all eligible men volunteered for the World War and not one had to be drafted.

day to make their island defenses stronger, a German general of aviation, Karl Schweickhardt, talked in Berlin of invasion by great aerial armadas which would strike simultaneously throughout Britain. He said German aerial attacks thus far represented "mere pin pricks" compared to what is to come.

The Nazi high command reported further British losses at sea. It said three armed British merchantmen totaling 16,000 tons had been sunk by bombers and that one Nazi submarine sank seven armed merchantmen totaling 56,108 tons during a long cruise.

Soviet Russia took in her 14th republic incorporating the Baltic state of Lithuania. Still waiting to be admitted are Latvia and Estonia.

Hungary, Bulgaria and Rumania made ready to talk business next week over Hungary's claim for Transylvania and Bulgaria's demand for the Southern Dobruja, both Rumanian territories.

In Bucharest, Transylvania leaders said they were told by Rumanian officials that Fuehrer Adolf Hitler demanded settlement of Hungary's claim because of fear of a strong Communist movement in Hungary getting out of control.

Hitler was reported recently to have ordered Rumania to negotiate directly with Hungary and Bulgaria or the axis powers would step in and make a settlement.

DEATHS

JOHN L. LONG
BOSCO, Aug. 3.—(Special)—Funeral services for John L. Long, 90, who died at his home here Friday, were held in the chapel of the Holy Family home at 8 a. m. Saturday with Rev. John officiating. Following services the body was taken, via motor, to Hopewell, Tex., for services and interment in Hopewell cemetery.

Mr. Long was a prominent resident of Bosco for many years. He is survived by his widow, Emma Ballard Long; three daughters, Mrs. Daisy Bullock, Winsboro, Tex., Mrs. Mary Culbertson, Fort Worth, Tex.; and Miss Ida Long, Monroe; one son, J. A. Long, Bosco; and a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren.

MRS. W. P. ANDERSON
Mrs. W. P. Anderson, 71, died at her home, 111 South First street, Saturday at 6:25 p. m. after an extended illness. Mrs. Anderson was born in Wesson, Miss. She moved to Monroe in 1913. Funeral services will be held at the funeral home at 8:30 p. m. with Rev. A. M. Freeman officiating. Interment will be in the Riverview cemetery.

Mrs. Anderson is survived by one daughter, Miss Bertha Anderson, Monroe; one son, J. E. Anderson, Bastrop; one half-brother, George Brodnax, Dallas, Tex.; and a cousin, Horace Bird, Brookhaven, Miss.

Fallbearers are C. B. East, George W. Morgan, Grann Brown, Harry Parker, C. N. Strong and Marion Douglass.

BOARD IS CHARGED IN JONES' REPORT

represent the board's principal assets but, so far, have proved unfortunate ventures, the committee concluded.

The subdivision's costs included filling in the lake front, building a gigantic seawall and improving the property—a mammoth project.

"It was intended," the report said, "that this project would be self-liquidating, but the high prices asked and restrictions imposed retard the sale of building sites."

"To encourage pioneering in this area, several homes were constructed by the board, only one of which has been sold, and a few apartment houses were built, only two apartments of which have been rented."

"These buildings were constructed at excessive costs compared with similar buildings constructed by reputable contractors in New Orleans, and are not of the type recommended by the real estate board."

The committee suggested reducing rents and altering restrictions, to provide for more moderately-priced homes, stimulate sales and encourage home-building. It also suggested construction of 40 or 50 homes and a few stores in order to populate the barren area and develop a residential community.

Regarding the levee board's amusement park, Pontchartrain beach, the committee said that under a 20-year lease begun last year for $262,500 total rental payable in installments, the board would wind up at the end of the lease with $160,500 net loss due to costs exceeding the rental payments.

Poor management of the airport, part of the lakefront development with the Lake Vista subdivision and the merry-go-round amporium, have led to complaints from airlines, the report said. It revealed that the bureau of air commerce had withdrawn its certificate of approval of the airport's repair station and that the runways and radio equipment required attention.

The airport formerly was named for Shushan but after he became involved in the state's scandals last year, the name was changed to New Orleans Airport. Shushan's monogram was scratched from hundreds of places on door knobs and hardware on the flying field's administration building.

The governor's committee recommended certain repairs, construction of additional hangars to accommodate "airlines who wish to operate to and from New Orleans if facilities are available" and improvement of transportation facilities between the airport and the city.

"The personnel of the board," the committee commented at another point, "has been required to accept regular cuts or 'deducts' from their salaries for political purposes and have been forced to subscribe to certain publications."

"The committee recommends that this practice be forever abolished, and made punishable by law."

Revenues were listed at approximately $2,600,000 from taxes and $100,000 from airport rents. Oil leases, or $2,700,000 yearly. Disbursements included $1,500,000 bond maturities and interest, $925,000 payment to the dock board and $410,000 miscellaneous and operating expenses.

On this basis, and without taking into consideration allowance for the capital outlay, the committee estimated deficits for the next decade would total $2,000,000.

This may be reduced or possibly even eliminated, the committee suggested, by reducing operating expenses, selling subdivision property, increasing or adjusting tax assessments, or refunding bonds as maturities occur in excess of ability to pay.

another stickup at Alto in which four men were involved.

Sheriff Coverdale listed the following robberies with those allegedly involved:

March 27, 28 and 29: Large quantities of aluminum wire from the Louisiana Power and Light company, West Monroe, by Freeman and Alexander.

April 30: Theft of copper wire cable from Monroe Sand and Gravel company, valued at $1,000, by Freeman and Alexander. Sold to a Mississippi firm for approximately $30.

May 11: Trolley wire at Tiggs, La., and sold to Monroe firm for $30. Freeman and Alexander.

May 15: Three loads of scrap metal and copper wire, property of Brown Paper mill, sold to Mississippi firm. Freeman and Alexander.

May 17: A cable from Monroe Sand and Gravel company, valued at $28. Sold to Mississippi firm. Freeman and Alexander.

June 8: Armed robbery at Alto. W. E. Roberts was called to filling station, threatened with gun. Four men were frightened away by approaching car while in act of blowing safe. Freeman, Alexander, Lanter and Getchell, first three identified by Roberts.

Salley is being held for furnishing a pistol, sledge hammer and a bar for Alto robbery.

Montgomery Ward, Monroe, holdup, June 16. Salley and Lanter.

In connection with the latter case, Sheriff Coverdale said:

"Lanter and Salley were arrested in connection with the Montgomery Ward robbery in which they attempted to force an employee to open the safe. Salley made bond, but Lanter remained in jail."

July 19: Theft of copper wire from Arkansas Light and Power company at Crossett, valued at $500. Freeman, Jackson, Alexander. Breaking of this case led to the solving of the others.

Sheriff Coverdale gave the following record for Lanter:

Sentenced Pine Bluff, Ark., June 7, 1933, to four years and six months, charge of kidnaping, released June 4, 1935; arrested Little Rock July 1, 1935, attempted burglary; sentenced July 3, 1935, Little Rock, violation Dyer Act; released April 10, 1936, on writ of habeas corpus.

Lanter, Sheriff Coverdale said, was arrested at San Antonio, Tex., for receiving stolen property, but was dismissed.

domination would not necessarily mean that the flow of these materials to America would be halted, however, although this doubtless would be the case if Japan became allied closely with the axis powers and the United States went to war with them.

Secretary Hull has warned repeatedly that any attempt to change the status quo of Indo-China and the Indies by force would endanger the peace of the entire Pacific. He has emphasized this country's desire to see the principles of international law and order maintained.

The United States has economic as well as military weapons which could be brought to bear in event of an attempted Japanese coup.

This government has already set up an export licensing system which could be used to shut off completely United States exports of scrap metal and petroleum to Japan. The licensing system is now affecting only a fraction of the products upon which it could be brought to bear.

HEARINGS ARE SET ON SOIL DISTRICT

Public hearings will be held in Morehouse, Franklin, Richland and West Carroll parishes this week to allow land owners to discuss a proposal to organize a soil conservation district, under provisions of the Louisiana Soil Conservation act of 1938. J. G. Lee, Jr., chairman of the state soil conservation committee, announced Saturday.

The hearings granted by the committee as a result of petitions from land owners in each of these parishes, will be held as follows: Humphrey's Chapel in Beekman, Tuesday at 10 a. m.; Bastrop, courthouse, Tuesday at 2:30 p. m.; Fiske theater in Oak Grove, Wednesday at 10 a. m.; Delhi theater in Delhi, Wednesday at 3 p. m., and the Winnabro courthouse, Thursday at 10 a. m.

Reports were current that opponents of conscription would offer the one-year voluntary enlistment plan as an amendment when legislation giving the president authority to order the national guard into active service comes up in the Senate Monday.

Wheeler said the conscription opponents had not determined finally on their strategy.

Several members predicted a heated session Monday when the Senate considers the guard-reserve bill, but most thought that it would go through without material changes.

ATHLETIC PICTURE OF FRENCH LIFE

ation, Faced With Many Uncertainties, Sees Millions Return

By John Lloyd
VICHY, France.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press)—Six weeks after France's armistice with Germany, the Petain-Laval authoritarian regime—still with nearly seven million refugees in its hands—is struggling to find the road to normalcy and build new foundations for more disciplined national life.

Hanging heavily over the whole confused scene are two yet unsettled questions:

1. France is existing under an armistice, not a permanent peace with Germany.

2. The new government arising from the wreckage of France's dissolved parliamentary system still has not been able to install itself in Paris here, with the necessary approval of the Nazis, its wants to establish close contact with the other half of the country which Germany occupies.

Until peace terms are signed it cannot be accurately stated how big an area the present government will rule. For can it be ascertained what resources will be available to the new regime?

Negotiations with Germany have resulted in the dispatch of some essential services to Paris, but conditions or the return of the government have not been worked out. How long it will take is not known here.

The most pressing problem right now is the return of millions of refugees to their homes—most of them in occupied areas. Until that problem is solved the cities and towns in the unoccupied zone will still be swollen with two or three times their normal populations.

Scattered soldiers, ordered to demobilize and turn in their arms, still haunt the roads seeking lost families. Thousands of them are in internment camps in the occupied zone. Thousands are in unmarked graves.

Until the refugee problem is settled there can be no normal functioning of agricultural, industrial and professional life.

Already there is considerable German co-operation to untangle this paramount problem. Adrien Marquet, French minister of the interior, said recently in a radio speech that it was to the Germans' own interest not to prolong the abnormal situation in the occupied area—risking food shortages this winter and leaving factories idle.

Refugees are in Paris and adjacent territory just now are getting started homeward by alphabetical order. Special trains running from the unoccupied to the occupied zones were crowded with forlorn people still clinging to miscellaneous personal belongings they carried with them in the head-long flight before the advancing Nazi armies.

The horde of refugees produced one of the most confused difficult situations imaginable. During May millions of Belgians trekked into France in an assortment of vehicles ranging from bicycles and ox-carts to fire-fighting trucks.

They camped alongside roadsides, jammed towns, swept away available food supplies as locusts can destroy whole fields of crops.

Soon they were joined by millions from northern France, then from the Paris area and later by melancholy millions from clear below Tours.

An estimated 10,000,000 quit their homes, moving in long, halting lines across the country. Automobiles and trucks were heaped with salvage such as mattresses, oil stoves, boxes, even chicken coops. Whole families perched atop farm wagons with their washing strung along the sides on ropes.

The litter these dazed, weary millions left along the roadsides is still apparent today. Abandoned cars were used to house these nomads of the war. Those cars are still there.

Complicating the return of the refugees is the fact that an estimated 100 bridges were destroyed before the armistice, some by the Germans and others by the French striving to check the Nazi advance.

Railroad rolling stock has deteriorated or disappeared. Gasoline is a precious thing, doled out only on official orders and then usually in the minutest quantities. Thousands who still possess automobiles find them useless.

Such measures as advancing state funds to get industry and agriculture back to work, giving preference to farm workers in the army demobilization and enforcing severe food restrictions on the people are being enacted.

The coming winter threatens to bring jolting hardship upon the whole French people, and to combat these the government has promised strict rationing.

Provisions for a future state-controlled French life, however, are mostly on paper. And here again the status of the government and its relations with Germany will be the deciding point.

France, facing an uncertain and dark future, still has not forgotten the past. The new government has held the people the "nation's dead" will be among the accusers, when those allegedly responsible for the war—and defeat—are tried.

Apparently special tribunals are to be set up to bring into the dock Edouard Daladier, premier when France entered the war, and many other of his ministers and parliamentarians deemed responsible for the country's present plight.

Daladier, Cesar Campinchi, minister for the marine, and Georges Mandel, colonial minister, are among those held in Marseilles after their return from French Morocco.

Now the people as a whole feel toward these past leaders remains to be seen, but extreme rightists have been vitriolic in denouncing these men, and those Frenchmen who still are fighting with France's former ally, Great Britain.

Rightists rule what's left of France today.

SAYS JONES RAN OUT
Rayville, La.
Aug. 2, 1946.

To the Editor:

Since the News-Star was fair enough to print the interview of Earl K. Long I feel that they will be fair enough to print this letter. We do have freedom of speech still, thank God for that. It is not Germany yet, anyway.

It does seem a shame the way that Governor Jones has run out on the old folks, the school teachers, and the bus drivers. The dear old people who trusted him and voted for him believing that they would receive their $30 per month. He did not tell them before his election that they would have to do something at Washington, and he did not tell them before the election that they would have to recall the congressmen they now have there and get new ones in order that they might receive their $30 per month. No! he said, "If you elect me governor, I will give the old people who are 60 years old, mind you not 65, but 60, the old age pension of $30 per month."

He said that if he was elected governor, that was the only requirement, and when the school teachers called on him he told them practically the same thing, and he has run out on them and of course the bus drivers, too. We certainly can say that Huey Long kept all of his campaign promises to us, and we, the people, are tired of politicians that as soon as they get in office the campaign is forgotten. We want true blue men in public offices that are not afraid to stand by their guns, regardless of the favored few who live in Baton Rouge during the legislature, and lobby for this and lobby for that. We want men who are for the people, and the benefit of the people. We live under a government where majority rules and the majority should receive the benefits.

The only reason he was elected was on probation. If he had saved his face and kept his promises he would have been very popular, but as it is the people have lost faith because he has not kept faith, nor has his legislature kept faith. In place of helping the people, all they did was meet and put on 20 new taxes, raise all their salaries, run out on the people and come home. Even the salaries of high up officials were raised. The people have no interest in public officials living on the fat of the land, rolling around in big cars, going to California, to the World's Fair and everywhere while the people sweat and toil in the fields to pay the taxes. Public officials should be servants of the people and nothing more.

Please print this letter so that people like myself who toil for a living might read and consider what we have done in the last election. I live way out in the country and have no way of knowing for several days whether or not my letter got in print, but please accept my trust in you.

Sincerely,
EMORY REDD.

EIGHT AMERICANS HONORED BY FRANCO

MADRID, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Generalissimo Franco in "signal token of my appreciation" has awarded eight Americans the Great Cross of Isabel, Catholic Spain's highest decoration for civilians.

His decree, dated May 24, was not published until today in the official bulletin.

The recipients included four Catholics: George Cardinal Mundelein, archbishop of Chicago who died October 2, 1939, upon whom the award was conferred posthumously; Dennis Cardinal Dougherty, archbishop of Philadelphia; Michael J. Curley, archbishop of Baltimore and Washington, and Thomas Molloy, bishop of Brooklyn.

The other four included Ogden H. Hammond, former United States ambassador to Spain; Dr. Alexander Hamilton Rice, the Boston Explorer; Commendatore Gaetano Vecchiotti, Italian consul-general in New York; and William Cameron Forbes, former ambassador to Japan.

MRS. TEDDY ROOSEVELT
WILL BE 79 MONDAY

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt will be unable to follow her usual custom of observing her birthday here because of poor health, her daughter says.

The widow of the 26th president will be 79 Monday. She is now at her ancestral home in Brooklyn, Conn., and plans to remain there until later in the summer.

The daughter, Mrs. Richard Derby, said Mrs. Roosevelt had suffered from the recent heat wave.

FRENCH ACTRESS PLANS
DIVORCE FROM AVIATOR

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Examiner says Swana Beaucaire, French screen actress, will leave tomorrow for Reno, Nev., to divorce Clyde Pangborn, round-the-world flier.

"We are still very good friends," Mrs. Pangborn was quoted, "But his work as a representative of the Canadian government keeps Clyde constantly on the move. We have seen but little of each other for some time."

BUILDING PERMITS

Building permits were issued by S. H. Aul, city building inspector, to the following:

W. R. McWilliams to remodel and add to a 1-story frame residence, located at 201 K street, a porch and one room, with asbestos roof will be added at cost of $750. J. and E. Zufall, contractors.

J. W. and R. E. King to construct a one-story sheet iron building to be used as sale room and warehouse, with two rooms and metal roof, at cost of $1,400. The structure will be situated at 4110 Jackson street. Day labor, contractor.

TOYS ARE REBUILT BY PROJECT HERE

Old Playthings Put Back Into Shape By Employees At WPA Quarters

Do you know the difference between donating old toys and donating old toys for rejuvenation?

The WPA toy rejuvenating project with headquarters in the Neville High school has made the difference between the two very distinct.

The city of Monroe sponsors the project, allotting each week a sum of money to be used to purchase necessary materials, plus paying such expenses as lights, water, and gas. Employees are paid by the government according to their classification, the three groups in the local project being unskilled, intermediate, and skilled.

Necessary materials, such as glue, paint, and cloth, are purchased from local merchants.

The WPA project set aside the week of May 20-25 as "This Work Pays Your Community Week." Visitors thronged the "shop" and sewing room asking questions and making suggestions. The walls of the shop are lined with shelves containing tiny tables and chairs, bright Santa Clauses, wooden animals, and numerous other objects made from cast-off trunks crates from the commodity warehouse, and scraps of wood collected from the local lumber yards.

In the sewing room, skilled seamstresses work from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m., as the "shop," fashioning corduroy dogs from old pants, yellow wigs from bits of yarn, clothes for rejuvenated dolls, lining for remodeled buggies—all toys which will delight the heart of many a small child next Christmas.

Toys are distributed to underprivileged children at Christmas by the various local agencies. At other times during the year, through requisitions, toys may be obtained for the underprivileged children who are ill.

There is a special spot in the "shop" for toys which can be put to no further use until more donations are made which will furnish pieces for the delapidated toys.

Mrs. Annie Starnes, superintendent of the local project, said:

"We must make the public realize that we can use anything. A tricycle wheel can give new life to a three-wheeled fire engine; a doll's head may be set atop a soft, new body made in the sewing room."

"We also want it understood that skillful, industrious men and women, unable to find employment elsewhere, are rendering a fine service in toy rejuvenation."

"I believe that if Monroe would come and observe what we are doing, it would see that 'this work pays your community.'"

Junior College News

With the addition of agricultural and home economics departments at Northeast Junior College this fall semester, a total of 19 new courses will be offered. Under the department of agriculture the following courses are listed: Soils, farm crops, dairying, poultry raising, feeds and feeding, and animal husbandry.

In addition to regularly prescribed curricula leading to the bachelor's degree, the college will offer terminal courses for intensive work to be completed at the end of two years. Correlating with terminal education, students under the supervision of their instructors, will carry on projects at home.

Five courses in home economics will be given. They comprise food, clothing, home management, child care and development, and interior decorating.

Art, offered last year to only those students who paid special fees, will become an integral part of the curriculum this fall. Introduction to art, and first and second year drawing and painting, all carrying three semester hours credit, will be taught.

Interest consistently shown by students who worked on the college paper, heretofore considered as an extracurricular activity, has been a vital factor in the installation of a course in journalism.

Students equipping themselves for a curriculum. Installation of such courses, in addition to provision for others greatly in demand, will fill a distinct need recognized by junior college authorities, said Dean C. C. Colvert.

The expansion of the program offered this year at Northeast Junior College was made possible by the legislative increased appropriation of $125,000 from state funds.

Many Monroe Families Enjoying Summer Trips To Various Parts Of Nation

Vacationists Tell Of Experiences On Tours

Mrs. Potts Writes Of Alluring Alaska; McHenry's Leave For Rocky Mountain Area Today

By Eve C. Bradford

THE Nomadic instinct that lies deep within every American man and woman rises to the surface at this particular season of the year. The same urge that sent the early Americans moving across the country in covered wagons is being felt today by vacation minded persons who scan road maps, read the alluring travel circulars and plan their trip accordingly.

The great unrest gripping Monroe families has sent them to every corner of the country—to the World's fairs in San Francisco and New York, to the Rockies, to the seashore, to the Gulf of Mexico, and on motor trips to the north, to the south, and out where the West begins.

One Monroe vacationist, Flora Potts, writes from Alaska—a land that knows no summer night in its northern areas. Where, because of the long growing day, "strawberries grow as big as potatoes, potatoes as big as squash, and squash as big as cabbages," and where delphiniums grow to a height of 8 feet and dahlia blooms often exceed 12 inches in diameter.

To most Americans, Alaska is a land of ice and snow, of Eskimos and igloos, of long Arctic nights and chilly days. To the vacationist, such as Flora Potts, Alaska is a land of verdant mountains, sparkling lakes and thriving, colorful gardens. Flora is cutting her Alaska cruise rather short so that she will be home not later than August 15 to participate in the pre-nuptial affairs honoring Doll Hudson.

Frances and Carl McHenry had their plans completed for a trip to the World's fair in New York, but their vivacious young daughter, Mary Wilton, had a yen for horse back riding in the great open spaces. As a result, they were off bright and early this morning for the Rockies where Mary Wilton will practically live in the saddle until vacation days are over.

This is the first time in years that Mrs. A. L. Smith hasn't left the city for cooler climes at the very first hint of warm weather. She is quite oblivious to the weather this year, as she is busily engaged in getting her granddaughter, Mary Ann Johnson and Bishop, and of course their adorable young daughter, installed in the comfortable plantation home she has just given them as a gift. The plantation home with its high ceilings, spacious rooms and open fireplaces, reminiscent of the days when living was done on a more elaborate scale than it is today, is being restored to its former glory. That is the rooms are being redecorated, the gallery and foundation are being reinforced, and modern fixtures are being installed. They expect to be established in their new surroundings later in the month. Mrs. Smith believes in giving what she has to give during her lifetime, so that she can share with her children and grandchild, the happiness that always comes with possession.

"Music bath charms to soothe the savage breast." This was the thought, no doubt, entertained by Mary Lee (Sullivan) Hancock, when she wrote her mother, Elma Sullivan, to ship her harp to New York in time to be taken on board ship bound for Puerto Rico, where she and Jack, her husband, will make their home for the time being at least. Mary Lee plays the harp divinely, and is looking forward to improving her talent while living in a strange land and among strange people. We venture to say Mary Lee's harp will be a great solace when, if ever, that dread disease, homesickness, overtakes her.

Mary Stuart, lovely blonde daughter of Louise Kellogg, is back from Camp Lure, N. C., with a glorious coat of tan. You can't imagine how becoming it is with her wavy hair and blue eyes.

thrill for many a day. May has outlined a most comprehensive program for each day during her stay in Washington with the possibility of attending a session of congress something to look forward to with pleasant anticipation.

Those ingenious place cards gracing the table for the breakfast honoring Ivo Wilson, last week, were designed and executed by Elizabeth Langford. Such a wonderful talent she has for things artistic and so generous is she with her time. Many a breakfast, luncheon and dinner table has been brightened by the clever conceits, designed and fashioned by this talented young woman.

Lorenzo Smiths Will Make Home In Monroe

A distinct acquisition to Monroe Little Theater circles will be Lorenzo Smith and his bride of recent date, who will arrive later in the month to make Monroe their future home.

Mr. Smith is at the present time in Chicago, where he is doing experimental work with the Zenith Experimental Television station, W9XZV. This television station is the only one in the Middle West, and one of the few large experimental stations in the country, the other two large ones being RCA in New York and Don Lee in Hollywood.

The Zenith Radio corporation maintains this station for the purpose of developing television production to such a point that it will be ready for commercial presentation at any time that the federal communications commission gives the final O. K.

Mr. Smith has through his work at W9XZV acquired a comprehensive knowledge of the field of television production. This knowledge will aid him in his work with the Little Theater in Monroe, as television presentations involve practically the same technique as does stage work.

Mr. Smith and his wife Elroy Scruggs Smith have both been working at W9XZV since shortly after the station opened about a year ago. In addition to the independent work he has done at Zenith, Mr. Smith has worked with the National Youth Administration on a serial called "Youth on Trial" and has presented several full length plays with the Children from the Chicago Commons.

Books On Tropics At Public Library

To those interested in the international situation, the Monroe Public Library suggests the following titles which pertain to Central and South America:

"High Spots in the Andes," by Josephine Hoepfner Woods, contains Peruvian letters of a mining engineer's wife. They give a mine of information about life at a gold mine.
"Caribbean Cruise," a book of the West Indies by John W. Vandercook, includes chapters on Cuba, Jamaica, Haiti, Puerto Rico, Virgin Islands, Panama, Bahamas, Bermuda.
"Brazilian Adventure," by Peter Fleming, is an entertaining account of a party who traveled into unexplored regions in Central Brazil.

"Sky Roaming Above Two Continents," tells of an aerial cruise, with many landings in the Caribbean, by Harry A. Franck. Traveling from place to place by airplane but lingering where the spirit of the country interested him, this "vagabond traveler" visited Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, Panama, Colombia, Venezuela and other countries of Central America as well as many of the Caribbean Sea.
"The Romance and Rise of the American Tropics," by Samuel Crowther, is the romantic history of the American tropics from the days of the Spanish conquistadores to the rise of the tropical countries under the impetus of American industry and capital.

"Amazon and Andes," by K. G. Grubb, is the result of many thousands of miles of travel and investigation in the upper Amazon waters and through Bolivia, Peru, Ecuador, Colombia, and Venezuela, and his journeys in the upper Amazon region were made under the auspices of the World Dominion Movement.
"Vagabonding Down the Andes," is the narrative of a journey, chiefly afloat, from Panama to Buenos Aires, by Harry A. Franck.

"Colombia, Land of Miracles," by Blair Niles, is an impressionistic book which successfully conveys the spirit and personality of Colombia.

"Attending Marvels," a Patagonian journal by George Calvord Simpson, is an account of "the attending marvels of a thousand Patagonian sights and sounds which is enough to make any stay-at-home wish that he had gone in for paleontology."

In addition to the above mentioned books the Monroe Public Library has an interesting array of magazines such as National Geographic, Travel, and Time which give up-to-date information about our southern neighbors.

Womack Family Holds Annual Reunion

Members of the Womack family enjoyed their annual reunion at Quitman last week. The entire day was spent in reminiscing with the serving of dinner out of doors, the outstanding feature of the day.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. S. Womack and family, Quitman; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Womack and family, Wyatt; and Mrs. G. A. Womack and family, Quitman; Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Womack and family, Eros; Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Warren and son, Hodge; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Womack and family, Oak Grove; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Hunter and family, West Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Womack and son, Hodge; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Womack and family, Huttig, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Bridges and family, Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Bridges, Monroe; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Mitchell, Huttig, Ark.; John Taylor Brooks, Marion; Miss Johnny Porter, Winnfield; Laverne Summerall, Oak Grove; Mrs. Dorothy Best and daughter, Quitman; and Mrs. Rosie Cox.

Interest is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Mrs. Clara H. Comer of Ferriday and William G. Sweetman of Natchez at the Ferriday Presbyterian manse with the pastor, the Rev. Hiram Sharpe, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends. The bride wore an advanced fall model of navy blue sheer with white accessories and a corsage of white roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Sweetman are spending their honeymoon in south Louisiana and on the gulf coast and upon their return will be at home in Vidalia.

Miss Alice Brauer left Saturday for Camp Joyelle in the Ozark mountains to spend the month of August.

Transylvania To Hold Its First Folk School

Attractive Program Outlined For Community During Outstanding Event On August 6 And 7

The Transylvania community will hold its first folk school, August 6 and 7, according to word just received. The folk school gives the people, especially women, an opportunity to discuss their daily problems and to hear informative talks delivered by able speakers.

The school will be composed of four departments: agriculture, homemaking, health and fine arts. Each department will devote two forty minute periods each day to classes. Personnel from the local community, farm security administration and extension service will have the periods in charge.

The entire parish is invited to participate in this three-fold program of recreation, inspiration, and education. Children's divisions will be under the guidance of capable community leaders. The adult and young people's program is as follows:

Tuesday, August 6
2:00-2:30 General Assembly and Community Singing. Brief talk, "The Meaning of Folk Schools," by Miss Mary Mims.

Miss Victoria Steele Becomes Bride Of Ernest S. Hill In Church Wedding

Pretty Ceremony At Presbyterian Church

Rev. Holloway Officiates As Large Concourse Of Friends Attend Wedding Of Popular Couple

A wedding in which the sincere interest of many friends centered was that of Miss Victoria Steele, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Steele, and Mr. Ernest S. Hill, son of Mrs. E. S. Hill, of this city, and the late Mr. Hill.

The wedding took place at the First Presbyterian church, July 27, with the pastor, Reverend Ernest Holloway, officiating in the presence of a large concourse of friends and relatives.

White gladioli and white lilies massed against the altar and chancel rail, adorned the decorative theme.

A pre-nuptial concert was rendered by Leon Hammond, organist, while the guests were being escorted to their seats by the usher, Arthur Tidwell, Jr. Mr. Hill was attended by his brother, Walter Lee Hill.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a smart navy blue Eisenberg model with white accessories.

For something old, she carried a lace handkerchief, carried by three generations of brides in the Hill family. A distinctive note was created by the handsome antique gold necklace, an inheritance from Miss Steele's great grandmother, Victoria Hedding Temple.

The bride's mother was wearing a poudre blue crepe model with white accessories, and a corsage of pink roses. The bridegroom's mother wore a white imported swiss model with corsage of white roses.

Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hill left for Washington, D. C., for a visit of several weeks. On their return to Monroe, they will be at home to friends at 110 Ousatche avenue.

Mrs. Hill is a graduate of Ouachita High school, and attended Lindenwood college in St. Charles, Mo. She graduated from the University of Alabama, where she was a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Mr. Hill graduated from the City High school, and attended Lindenwood State university, where he was a member of Theta Xi fraternity. He is associated with the Superior Lumber company.

PREPARE FOR THE FUTURE WITH A Stromberg-Carlson THAT GIVES NATURAL TONE

FREQUENCY MODULATION SHORT WAVE PROGRAMS STANDARD BROADCASTS

*Frequency Modulation is radio's latest marvel—a new kind of radio that eliminates static and interference. Here's an up-to-the-minute new Stromberg-Carlson that can get staticless programs because it has the special FM band needed. It receives standard and short wave programs, too. It's packed with tonal and convenience features like Electric Flash Tuning, Bi-focal Tuning Eye, and Separate Bass and Treble Tone Controls!

HAS THE LABYRINTH
This patented feature brings out bass not heard without it, and absorbs unwanted sounds audibly present. It adds more to tone than could be achieved by more tubes, a bigger speaker, or a larger cabinet.

HAS THE CARPINCOS SPEAKER
Another Stromberg-Carlson patent. It absorbs distortions and reproduces more treble tones than would be possible without it. Carpinchoe's extra-sensitivity lets the speaker follow each tiny impulse in the music.

Miss Dorothy McComb Marries Raymond James Talbot At Grace Church Here

Informal Reception Held At McComb Home

Wedding Date, Originally Set For Next Spring, Changed To August 1; Couple To Live In Norfolk

The wedding date of Miss Dorothy McComb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Parker McComb, and Raymond James Talbot, was changed from early spring to August 1, when Miss Parker decided not to return to Texas State College for Women, where she was working for her degree.

The wedding of Miss Parker and Mr. Talbot took place at Grace Episcopal church, with the rector, Dr. E. F. Hayward, officiating in the presence of a few intimate friends and members of the family.

The bride was attended by Miss Dorothy Lively and Miss Merrin G. Carpenter.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was wearing a smart advanced full model of navy blue sheer with all accessories of blue, and a corsage of white gladioli and miniature Madonna lilies.

Immediately following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the McComb home.

The bride's table in the dining room, overlaid with handsome lace was florally adorned with a wide spreading plaque of pink Radiance roses, orchid dahlias and feverfew. At either end of the table, tapers burned in crystal hurricane shades.

Frosted fruit frappe was served from a crystal bowl by Mrs. J. H. Moore.

Before departing on the honeymoon, the bride cut the beautifully embossed wedding cake, placed at one end of the bride's table.

Mr. and Mrs. Talbot are spending their honeymoon in Galveston and New Orleans, and later will motor to Norfolk, Va., where Mr. Talbot is stationed on board the United States destroyer Greer, in the capacity of first class radio man.

Miss Talbot, born in Monroe, is a graduate of Neville High school, and was graduated in nursing from Jefferson hospital, Philadelphia. She has been working toward her nurses' degree at the Texas State college for women for the past several months. Her course would have been finished in June had she continued her studies.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were: Mrs. W. G. Markhousek, of Cuervo, Texas; Mrs. Martin Granberry Carpenter, of Darnell, La.; and Roxie Meyers, of Grayson.

THIS ONE'S A SHOCKER
KANSAS CITY, Mo.—(AP)—Apparently they are going to have to do something about those brightly colored ground wires out on the Macon Electric Cooperative's rural lines. The birds peck 'em, eventually cause a short circuit and, frequently unhappy consequences for the birds.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The average price of middling 15-16-inch cotton today at ten southern spot markets was unchanged at 10.23 cents a pound; average for the past thirty market days 10.37 cents; middling 7-8-inch average 10.41 cents a pound.

SPOT COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Spot cotton closed quiet and unchanged. Sales were low. Middling 9.30, middling 10.30, good middling 10.75. Receipts 627. Stock 548,820.

New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Moderate advances in cotton futures were due more to the absence of selling pressure than to any aggressive demand today.

Trade price fixing and some buying by Wall Street interests, apparently on expectations of a higher loan, readily absorbed hedge and local selling. Volume was small with traders tending to await the government report estimating to be released August 8.

Futures closed 1 to 5 higher.

PLAN PREPPING GRID OFFICIALS

Southern Association To Adopt Apprenticeship Plan At Meet

ATLANTA, Aug. 3.—(AP)—In the future, southern football officials probably will have to serve an apprenticeship working high school games before they will be able to step into college officiating.

G. M. (Pup) Phillips, former Georgia Tech star and present president of the Southern Football Officials' Association, disclosed the plan today and said it was scheduled for adoption at the association's next meeting in Durham, N. C., August 31.

He said under the program state high school officials' associations will be set up in the various states dominated by the Southern and Southeastern conferences and men desiring to become officials will have to affiliate with these groups and handle high school games before seeking college assignments.

These high school officials will earn their ratings on coaches' reports and their system similar to that employed by the S. O. A. to rate its members. Each year 16 of the highest ranking high school officials will be invited to attend the S. F. O. A. tryouts and take tests which may qualify them for a higher rating.

"Some competent officials now working high school or small college games have been virtually shut out of the S. F. O. A. in the past," Phillips said. "Often men just out of college have exerted personal influence and been placed on the S. F. O. A. list without ever having worked a high school game."

The new plan will develop young officials by giving them the experience of college of a larger supply of trained men within easy reach."

Phillips announced the organization meeting for the Georgia High School Officials' association would be held in Atlanta August 25. He said the Georgia Athletic Coaches' association, which opens its annual clinic at Georgia Tech August 26, already has endorsed the proposed plan.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Bill White
"Pinch-Hitting" Briefs:
NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Things you really oughta know! Zekus Bananas Bontura, the bartered first baseman, won the senior A. A. U. javelin toss when he heaved the spear 213 feet, 10 1/2 inches, for dear old St. Stanislaus preparatory school at Bay St. Louis, Miss., in 1935.

John Caton is the fourth generation of his family to drive trotters. His father, Henry of La Crosse set some kind of an iron man record 10 years ago when he pitched and won two games from Fond du Lac in the Wisconsin State League.

Henry Picard should have remembered that no home pro has ever won the P. G. A. before he predicted he would win this year's at Haverly, Pa.

White Sox farm director, is grinning like a Cheshire cat over Don Kolloway of the Oklahoma City farm.

Lines to a certain golfer: Going rivals wouldn't best about my named Demaret. Neither would they turn and flee if he called it Demaret.

And they wouldn't run away from a match with Demaret. But they just can't grin and bear it when they have to play Demaret.

Covering the Tennessee beat (with a deep bow to Escar Thompson). Tennessee's Johnny (Rhett) Butler has put on ten pounds and will be even tougher for Vols' opponents to stop.

Demand for tickets for the Tennessee-Duke game being billed as the "Rose Bowl Consolation" is the heaviest in history.

Ed Molinski, the Vols' great guard, got his B. S. in June and will be working on his master's during his final year of football.

Murray Warmath, Mississippi State line coach will tell you that Bob Fox, the new Tennessee tailback, took a 78 the first time he ever put a round of golf.

When Tommy O'Brien quit to sign with the Atlanta club he got 1,500 bucks for doing so although Boston offered him $1,800. Reason he took the Atlanta offer was he'll get a part of the sale price if and when the big time beckons.

Stuff and stuff: Gertrude Barnes, 15 pounder, is the catcher for the Tomah, Wis., baseball team appearing this week (adv't) in the tri-state tourney in La Crosse. She's the same gal who played with the New Lisbon, Wis., high school team until the authorities said "no." Needless to say, she's the only girl appearing in the tournament.

A NURSE LAUDS THE DIXIE FUNERAL HOME
Dixie Cooperative Ins. Co., Inc.
Dixie Funeral Home,
Monroe, Louisiana.

My reason for having burial protection with the Dixie is I get more for my money, better service, and the entire office force is always courteous and kind to all. Too, their equipment is adequate to meet any and all requirements.

I am a nurse by occupation, and deal with many funeral homes in my work and I find the Dixie is always ready when I call them.

(Signed)—AGNES V. SLAYTON,
Monroe, Louisiana.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to extend our heartfelt thanks to our many friends in Swartz, Monroe, and surrounding towns for their kindnesses bestowed.

To the people in Baskort who helped in many ways during the sudden illness and subsequent death of our beloved husband and father, William S. Wenner, Sr., to the Reverends Freeman and Mayo for their cordial words, and the Dixie Funeral Home for their excellent and complete service, we wish to give special thanks.

Dixie Cooperative Ins. Co., Inc.
Dixie Funeral Home,
Monroe, Louisiana.

I want to tell the world what I think about the Dixie burial policy. I think it is the best policy in the world. I have been a member of the Dixie since 1938.

We took out a policy in November, 1938, on my grandmother. She died in January, 1939. Most people who have died about having to bury a person when they had only had the policy for sixty days, but not the Dixie. No, the Dixie is always ready to take care of you.

We treated us with as much sympathy and courtesy as if we were old policyholders. What more could we have been switching to the Dixie.

(Signed)—LEO BRYANT,
Rayville, La.

ANOTHER THANKS TO DIXIE FUNERAL HOME
Dixie Cooperative Insurance Co., Inc.
Dixie Funeral Home,
Monroe, Louisiana.

Gentlemen:
We have appreciated belonging to your funeral home and always will. It is the best in the state of Louisiana. I don't believe your rates can be beat. Your policy covers more and better merchandise. You have treated us with all the kindness in the world and I want to take this means of saying to the entire staff of the Dixie Funeral Home for their kindness.

I recommend the Dixie to everyone.
(Signed)—LUCILLE THAYER,
Rayville, La.

CARD OF THANKS
We desire to use this medium to express to our many friends our sincere thanks for the many courtesies that have been rendered during these past trying days. The passing of our loved one, Judy Lynn, who lived more bravely than most, has been made more bearable by the many courtesies. We especially desire to thank the Dixie Funeral Home for their kindness and consideration. To everyone who gave our heartfelt thanks.

GERMANS, FRENCH REACH STALEMATE

Return Of Government To Paris Encounters Principal Difficulty

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The chief obstacle to return of the French government to Paris appeared today to be a conflict between German military necessities and the French desire for a capital free of Nazi troops.

Although anxious to return to Paris, the French were reported to have pleaded that they could not govern their country efficiently if hampered by the presence of German troops within the capital.

Germany, however, seems unwilling to withdraw her forces from such a large area until the war with Britain is ended and a peace treaty actually signed.

Paris, it was pointed out here, is one of the most important railway terminals on the continent. Germans contend it is important that transportation facilities should remain in German hands so long as a state of war exists between Britain and Germany.

Also, in the German view, there is the political consideration that a city of almost 5,000,000 inhabitants—including the suburbs—might easily become the breeding place for subversive elements.

To meet French desires, Germany offered to withdraw her troops from Versailles if the French government wished to locate there, but the French, after studying this proposition, decided that Versailles was not equipped as a seat of modern government.

Plans now before the stalemated French and German authorities envisage a compromise which might be acceptable to both governments. Under this plan the French government would concentrate all its ministries on the left bank of the Seine, roughly grouping them along the Quai d'Orsay, while the German Army would withdraw from the area thus designated.

This, in a sense, would mean establishment of a city within a city, somewhat along the lines of the Vatican City in Rome.

NEED CHRISTIANITY, MISSISSIPPIAN SAYS

UNIVERSITY, Miss., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Alfred Hume, chancellor-emeritus and acting chancellor, today told a record summer graduating class at the University of Mississippi that the one great need of the world today was Christianity.

Speaking at the close of the university's summer session, Dr. Hume based his talk on Americanism and the tangible part Christianity has played in its development.

Pointing out Christianity as the inspiration of the Declaration of Independence, Dr. Hume said that without Christianity, "America's heart is gone."

CHILD IS CLEARED OF HULLS IN LUNG

Cottonseed Coverings Removed After She Suffered Three Years

ATLANTA, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Six-year-old Bonnie Jean Morrow's right lung was free of cottonseed hulls today for the first time in three years—and the child is expected to recover quickly from "asthma."

The hulls were removed with the aid of a bronchoscope and doctors described the case as one of the most unusual in bronchoscopic surgery.

It is thought that Bonnie Jean drew the coarse hulls deep into her lung three years ago while watching her mother, Mrs. L. R. Morrow, feed cattle at their farm home near Heflin, Ala.

She developed bronchial symptoms and her trouble was diagnosed and accepted as asthma until a physician became doubtful and sent her to a hospital where X-rays located the real difficulty.

Surgeons said today the lung apparently had suffered some permanent damage but they were confident most of the asthma symptoms would disappear.

The towns of Napoleon and Wellington, in Missouri, are only four-minute bus rides in opposite directions from Waterloo.

THERE AIN'T GONNA BE NO RUN-OFF

In his bid for another term Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel of Texas wrote a song, "There Ain't Gonna Be No Run-Off," for his hillbilly band to play in the campaign. And it seems the governor made the right forecast. For he piled up enough votes in the Democratic primary to give him the nomination. Surrounded by members of his family, he is shown seated at the phone at Austin as election returns came in. Around him, left to right, are Daughter Molly, Son Pat, Mrs. O'Daniel and Son Mike.

CAPITAL PROGRAM SET THIS MONTH

Dr. Jane S. McKimmon, assistant director of agricultural extension in North Carolina, will be the main out-of-state woman speaker on the program. For a number of years Mrs. McKimmon has served as state home demonstration agent in North Carolina and is regarded by many as dean of state agents says Miss Ellen LeNoir, state home demonstration agent.

The women's program each day will start at 8:15 a.m., and farm women will have the privilege of choosing from eight different subjects. The curriculum includes such subjects as child care, clothing, food preparation, food preservation, gardening, health, home management, higher life, and publicity. Between the two class periods each morning coffee will be served at an al fresco social hour on the grounds.

Members of the state home demonstration council and the home agents will hold their annual luncheon at noon on Tuesday of the course. The council will hold its annual meeting the next day.

A comprehensive program for the farm men will be held at the same time as the women's program, but the evening sessions will be held jointly.

SPAN AT GREENVILLE OPENS SEPTEMBER 17

GREENVILLE, Miss., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The new Mississippi river bridge here will be formally opened Tuesday, September 17, Ernest Smith, manager of the bridge, announced.

Smith said continued rains of the past month had "seriously delayed" work on the bridge and had caused postponement of the opening, originally planned for Labor day, September 2.

AIR-MINDED BURGLARS

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Air-minded burglars forced the lock of the new Mississippi river bridge here will be formally opened Tuesday, September 17, Ernest Smith, manager of the bridge, announced.

Smith said continued rains of the past month had "seriously delayed" work on the bridge and had caused postponement of the opening, originally planned for Labor day, September 2.

CLAIM GLIDER RECORD AFTER IDAHO FLIGHTS

SUN VALLEY, Idaho, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Lewis W. Barringer, Orange, N. J., and John Robinson, San Diego, Calif., national sailplane champion, claimed an unofficial American altitude record for two-seater gliders today, and anticipated even higher flights above the jagged Sawtooth mountains.

They soared to 10,400 feet above the mountains Friday almost 16,000 feet above sea level—to break unofficially the altitude mark Barringer set at Elmira, N. Y., July 4, 1939, by almost 4,000 feet. The old record was 6,560 feet.

OLD TURTLE

CONWAY, N. H., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Back in 1880, Edward Hale found a turtle in a field and carved his initials on the shell. Twenty years later he found the same turtle, a little larger, but still going.

A few days ago his son, Arthur Hale, found the very same turtle, showing some signs of age. He carved his own initials on the shell and sent it on its way.
